Growing produce to sell means money in the bank for Beth Kreider, 16. But this Lebanon County Fair Queen said that operating her own business also has a downside. "Every time I go to the mall and see something I want, I think of all the boxes of tomatoes I needed to sell to earn enough money to buy it," she said. "Having my own business has really taught me to grasp the concept and value of money." To read more about Beth, her growing business, and the beef and poultry operation of her parents, Harold and Barb Kreider, turn to page B12. Photo by Lou Ann Good

Latest Results On Robotic Milkers: The European Reality

DR. MARK VARNER
Professor, Extension
Dairy Scientist,
University of Maryland

Editor's Note: Dr. Mark Varner, professor, extension dairy scientist at the University of Maryland was invited to make a presentation at a parallel conference and thus attended the International Symposium on Robotic Milking for self education. Dr. Varner says he learned a lot and has provided Lancaster Farming with this summary of what is happening in Europe with robotic automated milking systems.

NETHERLANDS - Robotic automated milking systems (AMS) have been promised by futurists for some time, and it now appears that at least for Europe, they are no longer a promise. Instead, they are a reality. Their growing and now widespread use on private dairy farms for the last several years confirms that for at least Europe, AMS are an important part of the future. The most exciting developments in Europe are related to what farmers and their advisors are learning about practical AMS use.

Robotic automated milking systems have been used by private Dutch dairy farmers since 1992. Over 500 AMS units are now on farms, with most in the Netherlands and almost all of the rest elsewhere in Europe. An international symposium was held in Lelystad, Netherlands on 18-19 August 2000 to discuss these results. Over 250 people from 20 countries heard 25 presentations, viewed over 30 scientific poster presentations and visited private dairy farms using the five brands of AMS being marketed.

Many of the technical engineering problems, especially those critical challenges concerning attachment of teat cups, have been resolved over the last several years. The equipment works reliably, but now new problems have developed with the widespread adoption of the AMS by private farmers.

MILK QUALITY

Milk quality parameters were found by various research groups to be significantly worse in herds using AMS. Sometimes, though infrequently, the levels exceeded milk marketing organization penalty limits. Of course, that sometimes happens with dairy producers using conventi-

A Valuable Resource For Agricultural Law

As our agricultural industry continues to grow and intensify in Pennsylvania, many legal issues are beginning to take precedence. In an effort to provide a free source of educational programs, information, and materials focused on agricultural law to the ag-community, Penn State's Agricultural Law Research and Education Center was formed in 1997. The Center is a creation from the merger of the Dickinson School of Law with The Pennsylvania State University.

The Center is not only an excellent resource for farmers, but also for professionals, government officials and extension faculty and staff. The Cooperative Extension network works closely with the Center to provide many educational sources on law and regulatory topics to farmers and agribusiness organizations. Lawyers, accountants, financial planners and many other professionals can use the Center as a key resource for information that may affect their clients. Continuing education -

A ceremony to recognize the collection of one million pounds of waste pesticides was conducted at the Johnson's Nursery and Landscape, Inc. Halifax, late last week. Collections have been completed in all 67 Pennsylvania counties and 4,000 individuals participated in the program. The Chemsweep Program is making a significant contribution to Pennsylvania's ground and surface water quality goals.

The cost of the program is supported by pesticide product registration, not by tax revenues. Pennsylvania is one of the first states in the nation to complete a statewide collection and is recognized as a national leader.

The program is designed to provide a means to dispose of canceled, suspended, or unwanted pesticide products. ATLANTA, GA.
Aug. 30, 2000
Report Supplied By USDA

DELMARVA BROILER RYER MARKET. FEDERAL-STATE

Movement of ready-to-cook whole birds remained only about moderate, but was expected to increase sharply late week as buyers sought receipts for the holiday lengthend weekend. Seller offerings were well balanced to closely cleared on the smaller sizes; ample on the heavier. Live supplies were moderate; weights were mostly desirable. Processing schedules were moderately heavy and some operations were being planned for Saturday. Most plants will shut on Labor Day. Less than trucklot asking prices were unchanged at 51 to 68 cents. Trade sentiment was fully steady to firm on 2.5 to 3.5 pound sizes, steady at best on the balance.

Trucklot buying activity was usually better approaching the weekend ranging fair to instances fairly good. Supplies of boneless-skinless breasts were better balanced to adequate, and bone-in breasts were sufficient. Offerings of other items were more than adequate, and leg quarters continued to see active movement. Movement through retail and distributive channels was fair to no better than moderate.

The market tone was steady.

The OLD FARMER'S THIS WEEK WITH ALMANAC

SEPTEMBER 4-10, 2000

LABOR DAY, SEPTEMBER 4.

FIRST LABOR DAY PARADE

It was on a Tuesday, not a Monday, in 1882 when the first Labor Day parade was held in New York City More a protest march than a holiday celebration, the early parades were really campaign tools for pushing the eight-hour workday Participants had to give up a day's pay in order to participate, and the speeches were presented by labor activists Today's Labor Day parades are a far cry from that first event, but the tribute to the American worker and our country's social and economic achievements and contributions remains the same

It is impossible to enjoy idling unless there is plenty of work to do.

–Jerome K Jerome

TIP OF THE WEEK

☞ To successfully whip heavy cream, be sure it is cold rather than at room temperature.

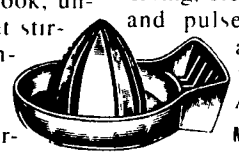
LEMON ICE

2 cups sugar
5 cups water
1-1/3 cups fresh lemon juice
2 tablespoons grated lemon zest
mint leaves, for garnish

In a medium saucepan, dissolve the sugar in the water and bring to a boil, stirring Cook, uncovered, without stirring, for 5 minutes Pour this into a ceramic bowl and refrigerate for at least 2 hours. Add the juice and zest and stir Pour into an ice cream maker and follow the manufacturer's instructions or, if you don't have an ice cream maker, simply freeze in a metal pan for 5 to 7 hours Just before serving, break into pieces and pulse quickly in a blender or food processor Add garnish



Makes 4 servings.

The OLD FARMER'S WEATHER PROVERBS

When cows fail their milk, expect stormy and cold weather.

If waterfowl make more noise than usual, and if robins approach closer to the house, expect frost soon.

If clouds fly to the west at sunrise, expect fine weather.

Oklahoma City, OK
Wed., Aug. 30, 2000
Report Supplied By USDA

Oklahoma National Stockyards - Weekly Cattle Summary Compared to last week: Feeder steers and heifers 2.00 lower with moderate demand. Steer calves steady. Heifer calves steady to 2.00 higher. Demand good for calves. Quality of supply plain with number 1 cattle in limited numbers. Weigh-ups mostly full as August heat wave continues. No rain in August combined with average high's over 100 degress has severely lowered nutritional value of pastures.

Feeder cattle in thin to moderate flesh; calves in medium to fleshy condition.

Slaughter cows 1.00-2.00 lower. Slaughter bulls 2.00 lower. Packer demand moderate at best. Demand moderate to good for replacement cows Total of 485 cows and bulls sold with 55 percent to packers.

Receipts this week 8525; last week 10,482; last year 10760.

Supply consisted of 76% yearlings over 600 lbs; 18% calves under 600 lbs; 6 percent cows and bulls. Heifers comprised 34% of feeder & calf supply.

POULTRY GUARD™
LITTER AMENDMENT

New Poultry Guard™ Litter Amendment is a unique activated clay that delivers consistent ammonia control without the handling inconvenience associated with other poultry litter treatments.

Unlike these other treatments, Poultry Guard Litter Amendment is easy and convenient to apply and needs no incorporation or activation. Fewer application variables mean more consistent performance. In addition, Poultry Guard can be applied up to five days before bird set, whenever it's convenient for the grower.

Using Poultry Guard Litter Amendment Is As Simple As...

Apply
Simply spread over poultry litter.
- No incorporation
- No moisture activation
- No complicated instructions for heating and ventilation in conjunction with application

Bird Set
Poultry Guard can be applied when it's most convenient, up to five days before bird set.
- No application timing headaches between clean out and bird set
- No last minute application after equipment has been lowered

Control Ammonia
Poultry Guard will deliver immediate and long-term ammonia control and give birds a healthier growing environment.
- No more dangerously high levels of ammonia to stunt growth

You be the judge! We are confident this litter amendment will improve your poultry and your profits.

When Prissels decided to expand their dairy operation, they also wanted to milk available tax advantages.

Randy, Brian Scott and Dennis Prissel Prissel Valley Farms Durand, Wisconsin

Prissels chose a "True Tax" lease. In fact, they leased a milking parlor, free stall barns, silos and other farm equipment. Along with fixed and 100% tax deductible lease payments, the leases protected their equity ratios by providing off balance sheet financing.

They chose Telmark for its knowledge of the dairy industry, service and reputation for financing. They also enjoyed working with their Telmark representative who personally knows the ups and downs of farming.

Brian Prissel and Telmark's Scott Vosters

By financing with a lease, terms were kept to a minimum, allowing for the continued growth of the operation. Telmark's quick response allowed the Prissels to move quickly into their dairy expansion.

OPINION

Ready To Give Up?

Agricultural economist Luther Tweeten, Ohio State University, thinks the three member nations of the North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA) should follow Europe by adopting its own common currency.

According to Tweeten, common currency would help farmers in Canada, Mexico, and the United States by easing the impact of fluctuating international currency rates that affect the value of products sold in cross-border trade. Farming is already one of the riskiest businesses due to unpredictable weather, pests and markets, and a single currency would provide at least one aspect of stability.

"My proposal would reduce what we call 'exchange rate risk' in agriculture," Tweeten said. "It's one of the instabilities in the market we wouldn't have to put up with anymore. We could do away with that if we had a common currency."

Tweeten, who has argued the case to U.S. trade policymakers, said that a common currency should be the next level for discussion between the three nations, which formed the world's second largest free-trade zone in 1994, although there's still more work to be done on reducing trade barriers. "If France and Germany in the European Union (EU) can get together despite historical animosities that run long and deep, I think surely we can get together," the ag economist said.

The EU, which is the largest free-trade zone, adopted a common currency, the euro, on Jan. 1, 1999. And talk of a common currency is a hot topic among economists, business people and finance ministers in other parts of the world, thus dispelling the notion "it's a revolutionary thing," Tweeten said.

For example, this summer Ecuador boldly adopted the U.S. dollar as its official currency as a step against hyperinflation; to stop devaluation of the national currency, the sucre; and to promote foreign investment in the South American nation.

A common currency is a great facilitator for trade and investment, and I think ultimately it's good for the world," Tweeten said.

But we have questions. Would this inflate the dollar and offset any gains in a lower exchange rate risk? Would this further get us ready to give up our U.S. sovereignty in favor of one world government? Think about it.

Now Is The Time

Lancaster County Agricultural Agent

To Delay Corn Silage Harvest

Robert Anderson, Lancaster County extension agronomy agent, has observed some farmers beginning to cut corn for silage.

This may be due for the need of feed and fields are being opened to supply this need or being done based on the calendar.

Corn silage harvest should be delayed this year because many fields were planted a little later than normal. This means they will mature later than normal.

In addition, the cool summer weather and lower-than-normal amounts of sunlight did not promote the normal growth rate for corn.

Corn likes hot weather, including hot nights. This year we had very little hot weather and almost no hot nights.

We have lost slightly over a week of growing degree days for corn this summer. The loss of growing degree days and later-planting could amount to nine or more days delay in the maturing of corn.

To Check Corn For Maturity

Before starting to harvest corn silage, each field should be checked for maturity and moisture, according to Robert Anderson, Lancaster County extension agronomy agent.

Corn continues to add dry matter content up until the time the black layer is formed on the kernel. When this happens, the plant has reached maturity. However, the moisture content may still be too high to cut silage.

A simple way to estimate plant moisture content is by checking the kernel. At full dent the whole plant moisture is about 74 percent. When the milk line is halfway, the whole plant moisture is about 68 percent, a good time to fill the silo.

Do not be in a hurry to fill silo this year because you always fill silo around Labor Day.

Check the plant maturity and its moisture content before you harvest. This will minimize the amount juices running out of the silo while producing good quality silage.

To Look At Corn Cutting Height

A recent Pioneer Management study looked at what happens when you raise the cutting height for corn silage.

Tall corn plants have reduced grain-to-stover ratios. Raising the cutting height leaves more stover and fiber in the field and results in higher quality silage. It also reduces yield.

So does it pay? The Pioneer study indicated that for every six inches of stalk left in the field, yield is reduced by 1.2 tons per acre. At the same time, quality is improved by 0.6 percent (whole plant digestibility).

These numbers can be converted to milk. For every six inches of stalk left in the field, you gain 72 pounds of milk per ton in quality and lose 258 pounds of milk per acre in lost yield.

If your corn yields 20 tons of silage per acre, you will net 1,182 (1,440-258) pounds of milk per acre by raising the cutting height by six inches.

This may be a good year to raise the cutter bar and improve your silage quality, particularly if you have a lot of low quality hay to feed this year.

Feather Prof's Footnote: "It is one of the laws of our being that only in seeking happiness of others can we find our own."

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

THE WILLING RESPONSE

Background Scripture:
Judges 4 through 5.
Devotional Reading:
Psalms 68:1-6.

Slow Learners!

When we read Judges, we cannot help wondering why these people never seemed to learn. We can see them forsaking the Lord perhaps once, or even a second time. But because each time they "did what was evil in the sight of the Lord," they suffered grievously and had to beg the Lord to save them, wouldn't you think they would eventually learn to straighten up and fly right? They weren't just slow learners; they were essentially nonlearners.

Ah, but then maybe no more than we. When Winston Churchill wrote "Triumph and Tragedy," the third volume in his magnificent history of The Second World War, he described its theme as "How The great Democracies Triumphed and so Were able to Resume the Follies Which Had so Nearly Cost Them Their Life."

Isn't that the theme of just about ever great crisis through which we have come? And that is true, not only of our societies, but our lives as individuals.

We, too, come through one scrape after another and then quickly settle into doing what is "evil in the sight of the Lord."

What made the Lord so angry with these people time and again? Essentially, it was because, "forgetting the Lord their God . . .," they served the Baals and the Asheroth of their neighbors. They did not say, Lord God, we will not serve you any longer. No, what they did was to pretend to serve the Lord, but base and fashion their lives on the values and practices of their pagan neighbors.

Does life in this country, your community, or your home reflect the rule of Christ or the Baals and Asheroths of today?

God Always Responded

Yet, no matter how often the people of Israel forsook their faith, God always responded to their cries for help and sent them someone to deliver them. For the most part, that's who the "judges" are in this book.

In Judges 4 and 5, the savior whom God sends is a surprise, given the generally low status of women in the Old Testament and the ancient world. Deborah, a woman upon whom God bestowed the gift of prophecy, would be the one who would be God's instrument. To be sure, she enlisted a man, Barak, to lead the armies, but without her persuasiveness, Barak would have done nothing. When God called Deborah to assume this most unusual role, she had a perfect excuse. She could have protested that I'm only a woman; no man is going to listen to me.

We should be able to identify with Deborah because when we are called by God to do something (and don't think you are not!), we have the same temptations: Lord, you can't mean me, I'm only a youth; I'm too old; I don't have the skills; that's not my line; I can't influence anyone, and so on.

The difference, Judges tells us, was that "the people offered themselves willingly" (5:2b).

When God calls us. no matter how ill-fitted we may think we are for the task, he can use us if we offer ourselves willingly.

Who will do it?

Pork Checkoff at Work.SM

The upcoming referendum will decide the future of the national pork checkoff. Pork producers should think carefully about what's at stake. Under our present pork checkoff, every pork producer, large and small contributes their fair share to the program and shares equally in the many benefits provided. Try to imagine our industry without our current national checkoff program. It really comes down to who will do it...and with what? Think about it...then ask yourself:

And with what?

"Every man owes a part of his time and money to the business or industry in which he is engaged. No man has a moral right to withhold his support from an organization that is striving to improve conditions within his sphere."
– Theodore Roosevelt

PENNSYLVANIA PORK CHECK OFF DOLLARS WORKING FOR YOU IN PENNSYLVANIA

- PORK GOES TO SCHOOL
  This has been an ongoing program in which the PA Pork Producers Council supplies pork for use in Home Economics classes Students need to learn early on the nutrient value, versatility, ease of preparation , and taste of pork in their formative years
- WHERE PORK COMES FROM
  This video and manual has been sent to over 3000 educators throughout the state
- AG IN THE CLASSROOM
  This program was developed to educate children about the "real life" of farming and raising pigs It has dispelled many myths about the mishandling of farm animals
- 4H and FFA
  Judging contests, awards and travel are just a few of the many youth programs supported by the PA Pork Producers Council
- FAMILY & CONSUMER SCIENCE ANNUAL MEETING (Formerly Home Economics)
  The PA Pork Producers Council attends this annual trade show meeting and consults with teachers about PORK The teachers are very enthusiastic about the progress that has been made in our industry and look forward to the many recipes and teaching aids made available to them
- PA ASSOCIATION OF DIETICIANS
  Representatives from the PA Pork Producers Council consult with dieticians and students at their annual trade show Recipes and up to date nutritional information are provided here and at local fairs, cooking classes, youth meetings, and homemaker schools.
- RESEARCH
  Your check off dollars have supported research in the areas of New Product Development, Nutrient value of swine manure from samples taken around the state, fertilizer value of swine manure, on-farm odor control
- RETAILERS
  Retailers are supplied with Point of Purchase materials and recipes in order to better inform our consumers about the cuts, nutrition, and cooking methods for pork.
- PRODUCER SEMINARS
  Educational seminars throughout the state are supported with your check off dollars
- WASHINGTON SEMINARS
  Producers from Pennsylvania meet annually with our congressmen to keep them up to date on issues that affect our industry
- KEYSTONE PORK EXPO
  This trade show for pork producers has been held for 22 years
- ADVERTISING
  Pork has been advertised in the PA Physicians magazine, Metro traffic reports, Phillies radio network and PSU football radio network
- PORK QUALITY ASSURANCE
  The PA Pork Producers Council enthusiastically supports this important program to ensure the wholesomeness of our product
- NUTRIENT MANAGEMENT
  The PA Pork Producers Council President is a member of representative on the state board

The PA Pork Producers Council has depended on all volunteer help since 1969 All local pork producer organizations are represented on the PA Pork Producers Board of Directors and these directors voluntarily give their time for meetings and seminars It has only been in the last 5 years that the Council has employed part time help As a result, our budget for research, education and promotion ranks with Iowa and North Carolina

IF WE DON'T DO IT WHO WILL???

VOTE YES
YOUR FUTURE IS IN YOUR HANDS

Sure, we all want some things in the pork industry to change But consider this Without the checkoff, pork will no longer be The Other White Meat®. The U S will concede our hard-earned gains as a net exporter of pork Our dramatic progress with fast food and restaurants will be wasted. And finally, as we lose pork demand, we'll lose American pork producers So have no illusions, the checkoff creates pork demand. And without demand, you may get a lot more change than you bargained for

This ad has been paid with non check-off dollars

PastureMat®

The Golden Standard In Cow Comfort

Pack Mat

Why Pasture Mat?

Pasture Mat is tightly stuffed with rubber and sewn every 4" to prevent shifting
Proven most durable top cover
Least abrasive top cover on the market
Fits any stall
Proven performance

Reduce Sand • Increase Cow Comfort

- The perfect complement to any sand stall
- Owners report sand savings up to 80%
- Yielding surface does not allow sand to compact
- Prevents "digging out" of stalls

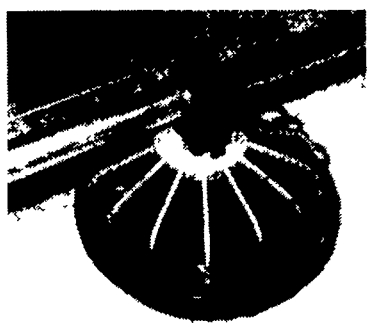
Pax

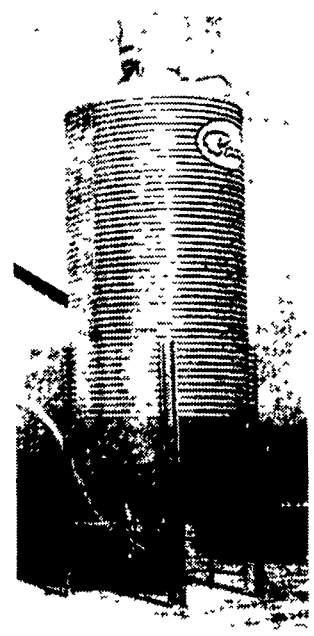
Boosts Your Efficiency and Products with these Innovative Products...



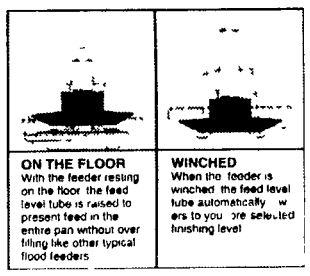
QUICK-START

The Pax QUICK-START™ pan feeding system grows chicks into FINISHED broilers efficiently.

Start chicks with the feeder resting on the floor and the feed pan entirely filled The Pax QUICK-START™ pan provides easy access to plenty of fresh feed – with no accumulation of stale feed in the drop tube – attracting even the smallest chicks to begin feeding right away



Feed Storage and Delivery Systems



ON THE FLOOR
With the feeder resting on the floor the feed level tube is raised to present feed in the entire pan without overfilling like other typical flood feeders
WINCHED
When the feeder is winched the feed level tube automatically w ers to you ore selected finishing level

Flexible Auger for Low Volume, Standard Volume, High Volume, as well as High Moisture (up to 25°) and pellet applications

Weekly Dairy Market Outlook

By Ken Bailey
Penn State University
August 25, 2000

Barrel Price Rebounding

 National fluid sales down*

Barrel cheese prices strengthened this week, rising from $1 1450 per pound on Monday, August 21 to $1 18 per pound by Friday, August 25. Sales were unusually high this week with 54 cars of barrels trading hands Block cheese prices also firmed a bit, rising from $1 28 per pound on Monday to $1 30 per pound by Friday

This is quite a change from the prior three weeks when barrel prices fell below support price levels and the block/barrel price spread grew to over $0 20 per pound By Friday of this week, however, the block/barrel spread was reduced to $0 12 per pound This is still higher than the normal range of $0 03-$0 05 per pound

The strength in the barrel prices was a result of strong sales In addition, more milk is being diverted away from manufacturing uses into fluid uses USDA reported that the Class I pipelines are being filled as children return back to school. That coupled with a seasonal reduction in the milk supply may have helped firmed cheese prices

There is a lot of talk that milk on the east coast is very tight, especially right now! Many people are scrambling to find supplies for Class I needs So why aren't milk prices rising? The problem continues to be growing U S cow numbers and the potential for higher milk production levels Many dairy farmers I have spoke with report that replacement costs are still very high, reflecting strong demand

USDA just released estimates for fluid milk sales for all federal orders and California During the period January through May 2000, total fluid milk sales were 21 6 billion pounds, down 0 6 percent relative to the same period a year ago Sales of whole milk, lowfat milk (1 percent), and buttermilk were up, whereas sales of reduced fat (2 percent) and fat-free milk (skim) were down Skim milk alone was down 7 7 percent relative to the same period a year ago These numbers were just crunched by USDA based on new data from the revised federal milk marketing orders As a result, they may be subject to revisions

Average Farm Feed Costs for Handy Reference

To help farmers across the state to have handy reference of commodity input costs in their feeding operations for DHIA record sheets or to develop livestock feed cost data, here's last week's average costs of various ingredients as compiled from regional reports across the state of Pennsylvania.

Remember, these are averages, so you will need to adjust your figures up or down according to your location and the quality of your crop.

Daily National Grain Market Summary

St. Joseph, MO
Aug. 30, 2000
Report Supplied By USDA

Profit taking on the Boards ahead of the long upcoming weekend drop grain and soybean bids today. There sure has not been any relief from the scorching temperatures. Weather got the credit for recent price upturns.

Wheat steady to 4 cents lower. Corn 2 to 5 cents lower. Sorghum steady to 5 cents lower. Soybeans 3 to 6 cents.

Recent record breaking high temperatures and days without rains being set from Colorado east through Northern Delta, Southeastern states and south from Iowa to the tip of Texas. This encompasses a lot of corn and soybeans. Its a good thing corn got planted early and mature early. Still, a lot of damage is being done. Corn picking making and early seasonal move up into central Kansas. Soybeans taking a big hurt and a with a few more days of these conditions the patients will be lost and moisture will not help. A scattering of export announcements on the books today.

Ayrshire Takes Top Award At Allentown

MICHELLE RANCK
Lancaster Farming Staff

"When I pick the champion, I think, 'If I was going to pick one, which one could I pick that would go the furthest in the long run?'" said judge Curtis Day of Tri-Day Holsteins, who picked a 2-year-old Ayrshire for her angularity, set of legs and strong topline.

Jennifer Miller took "Emory" into the ring for her employer, Earl Hafer and Sons of Douglasville. The yearling bull won supreme champion dairy bull of the show.

In the Brown Swiss division Shannon Semmel, Schnecksville, took home both grand and reserve champion female honors. Karen Sterner, Bechtelsville, won grand champion female Guernsey, with reserve going to Nathan Phillips, Mertztown.

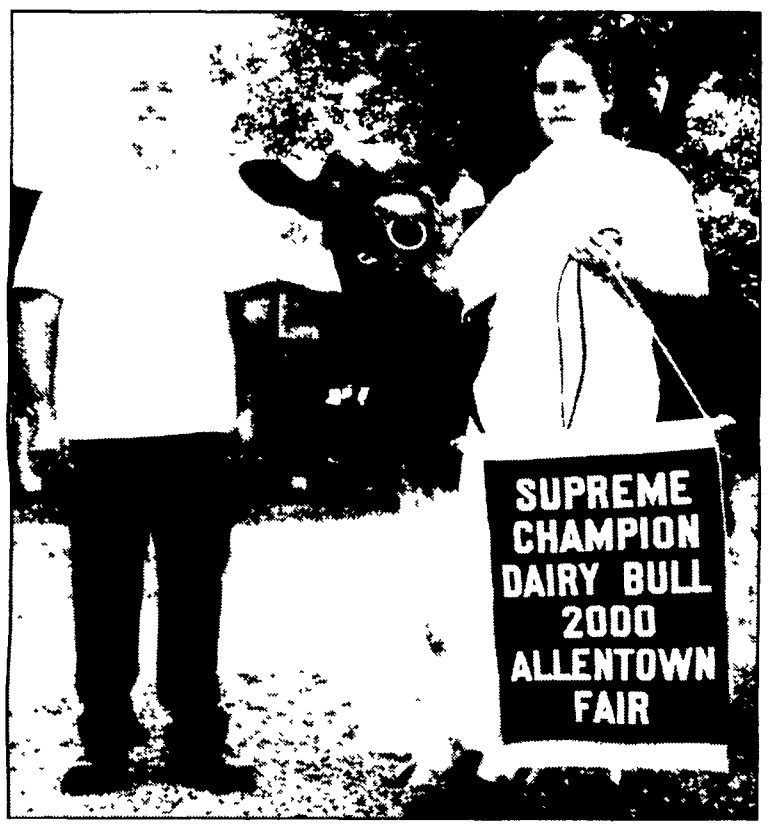
In the Milking Shorthorn show, Kevin McGinnis of Souderton showed the grand and reserve champion females. In the Lineback show, an "up and coming" breed, according to extension agent Steve Dietrich, Seth Wolfgang, Bechtelsville, won grand champion and Jill Vail, Myerstown, took home reserve grand champion.

A champion lineup: Judge Curtis Day holds the supreme champion banner at left. Amy Wolfgang holds the halter of the overall champion, an Ayrshire from Amber Knoll Farm in Bechtelsville. Shannon Semmel, Schnecksville, holds the champion Brown Swiss; Karen Sterner, Bechtelsville, had the champion Guernsey; and Hannah Miller of Tamaqua showed the champion Holstein. Jill Neiman, Fleetwood, took home grand champion honors with her Jersey and Kevin McGinnis of Souderton showed the grand and reserve champion Milking Shorthorns. In the Lineback show, Seth Wolfgang, Bechtelsville, won grand champion.



Jennifer Miller holds "Emory" for her employer, Earl Hafer and Sons of Douglasville. The yearling bull won supreme champion dairy bull of the show. Curtis Day, of Tri-Day Holsteins in Shippensburg, judged the event.

Six Breeds Compete At Allentown Goat Show

MICHELLE RANCK
Lancaster Farming Staff

Goat dairy breeds were well represented at the fair this week, as Alpines, LaManchas, Nubians, Saanens, Toggenburgs, and Recorded Grades competed in the junior kid through five-years-and-older classes.

Brant Kloiber's "Jetteal" won best doe in show among the six dairy goat breeds represented at the fair. The Alpine doe's smooth-blended body and correlation of body parts put her at the top, according to judge Ann Weikel. Kloiber, 18, of Bath, got the doe from a goat herd outside of Quarkertown.

Jill Neiman, Fleetwood, won supreme champion market goat with "Tonka." Besides her nine Jersey cows, Jill Neiman takes care of 15 dairy goats on her home farm in Fleetwood. In her ninth year of showing, Neiman, daughter of Leon and Linda Neiman, shows mostly homebred animals.

"Tonka's" long body and meat through the loin placed him at the top of the class, according to judge Weikel. The homebred Tonka has already appeared in Kutztown and Reading fairs and will be sold at Berks County 4-H roundup at the end of September.

Judge Weikel, of Blairs Mills, judged both dairy and meat goat shows. Weikel owns a commercial herd of more than 100 milking LaMancha, Toggenburg, and Recorded Grade goats with her husband, Joel.

"Conformation-wise, the strongest breeds were Alpine, followed by LaMancha," said Weikel, who noted that the Alpine and LaMancha classes were also the larger classes in the show.

Somerset County Fair Swine Show

GAY BROWNLEE
Somerset Co. Correspondent

MEYERSDALE (Somerset Co.) — In a packed arena of spectators, Jeremy Hay had the high honor of showing the grand champion swine at the Somerset County Fair on Aug. 22. The High Ridge Club 4-Her's Yorkshire Cross, according to type judge, Nelson Beam was the best out of the more than 256 hogs in the show. It weighed 251 pounds.

Later, during showmanship competition, Ginger Fair, the showmanship judge, selected Jeremy Hay as junior champion showman.

Lucas Svonavec's Crossbreed hog was the swine reserve champion and Svonavec was named senior champion showman.

The Somerset County Born and Raised Market Hog champion belonged to Jesse Brant, a Mountain Springs 4-Her. The Duroc weighed 236-pounds. Jacob Bowman from High Ridge 4-H Club had the reserve, also with a Duroc that weighed 268-pounds.

The Home Grown Market Swine was shown by Megan Korns from White Oak 4-H. It was a 262-pound Duroc/Hampshire. Craig Sanner, High Ridge 4-H had the reserve with a 255-pound Hampshire/Duroc.

Jeremy Hay's white Yorkshire Cross is grand champion and Lucas Svonavec with the dark hog, a Crossbreed, has reserve champion. With them are fair queen Melissa Schrock, next to Hay and Juliana Hillegass, fair queen alternate; also judge Nelson Beam.

USDA Protects 10 New Plants

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The USDA has issued certificates of protection to developers of 10 new varieties of seed-reproduced plants. They include corn, marigold, millet, and pepper.

The 10 certificates are being issued under the Plant Variety Protection Act. The certificates require that the varieties be new, distinct, uniform, and stable. The owners will have the exclusive right to reproduce, sell, import, and export their products in the United States for the duration of protection.

The 10 certificates are:

- The NP2015, NP2029, NP2031, NP2066, NP2115, and NP2151 varieties of corn, developed by Novartis Seeds, Inc., Minneapolis, Minn.
- The AC 33892 variety of corn, developed by Abbott & Cobb, Inc., Feasterville, Pa.
- The Hero Bee variety o marigold, developed by Johr Bodger and Sons Company South El Monte, Calif.
- The Tift 93 variety of millet developed by U.S. Department o Agriculture, Agricultural Re search Service, Tifton, Ga.
- The Gusto variety of pep per, developed by Harris Morar Seed Company, Modesto, Calif.

USDA's Agricultural Market ing Service administers the Plan Variety Protection Act, whicl provides time-limited marketing protection to developers of new and distinct seed-reproduced anc tuber-propagated plants ranging from farm crops to flowers.

For more information abou the Plant Variety Protection Act contact the Plant Variety Protec tion Office at 301-504-5518 (tel.) 301-504-5291 (fax), o1 www.ams.usda.gov/science. pvp.htm.

FALL IS THE BEST TIME TO RE-SEED PASTURES

Advantages of Fall Seeding

- ✓ High soil temperature allows quicker germination
- ✓ Pasture is out of production in a slow growing period of the year, unlike in the spring where you sacrifice the prime growing period of the year
- ✓ Very few weeds establish in the fall compared to the spring
- ✓ Most weeds that do establish in the fall will be killed immediately in the winter

Let us answer your questions on grazing. We graze dairy cows here, and try out nearly all the varieties we sell with BG 34 Ryegrass being one of our favorites.

Economics

Recent on-farm trials show that the cost involved with fall renovating a pasture with BG 34 PERENNIAL RYEGRASS is between $65-$100 per acre. The extra spring growth of high quality forage made the milk production per acre more than double compared to the non-renovated pasture! At a milk price of $12 cwt, an extra 900 pounds of milk per acre will pay for the expenses. In this particular trial, the costs were recouped after just two grazings in the first spring. All additional extra milk production in the season and years to follow is profit! (Needs proper management!)

Somerset County Fair Market Lamb Show

GAY BROWNLEE
Somerset Co. Correspondent

MEYERSDALE (Somerset Co.) — Brooke Ritchey, Wellersburg, had the 125-pound crossbreed lamb shown in Class 14 that was named the grand champion on Aug. 21 at the Somerset County Fair Market Lamb Show. The 11-year-old member of White Oak 4-H Club also came in third in junior division showmanship.

Jessica Darr's 116-pound crossbreed lamb was named reserve champion by type judge, Christian Herr, who commented very favorably at the end, that the lambs he saw in this show were among the best in the entire state, owing to high quality care that obviously, went into them.

The Home Grown champion lamb was another crossbreed owned by Gabriel Svonavec. It was shown in Class 10 and weighed 118-pounds. He belongs to the High Ridge 4-H Club. Reserve home grown lamb was Breann Ritchey's 116-pound crossbreed lamb.

The Somerset County born and raised lamb grand champion was a 123-pound Suffolk Cross shown in Class 13 by Nicole Shultz. Reserve was Breann Ritchey's 109-pound crossbreed lamb.

Gabriel Svonavec was the champion showman in the senior division. Jessica Darr was the senior showman reserve champion. Beth Miller was the junior champion showman and Lacey Murray was the reserve champion showman.

Somerset County Fair Market Steer Show

GAY BROWNLEE
Somerset Co. Correspondent

MEYERSDALE (Somerset Co.) — Shawn Troutman, 14, Wellersburg, felt justified when finally, his 1,260 Crossbreed steer swept the top honors in the Somerset County Fair Beef Show. Judge John Comerford named the prize animal grand champion steer, County Bred grand champion and Club Calf Sale grand champion.

The White Oak 4-H Club member's victory certainly sealed wide grins on the faces of his parents, Larry and Kathy Troutman who knew their son had persevered a long while.

The hard working young man other years was almost, but, never quite, at the top. In fact, long time rival, Dan Miller, Meyersdale, on August 22, had the reserve champion with an Angus Cross that tipped the scales at 1,355-pounds. It also was the Club Reserve Sale Calf champion. The 18-year-old belongs to the Buffalo Creek 4-H Club. His parents are Lee and Bonnie Miller.

Kayla Wedge, a White Oak 4-Her had the reserve County Bred steer, a Maine/Angus weighing 1,375-pounds.

The senior division champion showman was Heidi Svonavec. Deidra Smith was the reserve champion showman. Beth Miller was champion showman in the junior division and Bryan Hay was the reserve, according to showmanship judge Brian Hrutkay.

Second Edition Penn State Milk Bottles Unveiled At Annual Meeting

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — The Penn State Dairymen's Club will unveil the second edition of its collectable milk bottles. This edition will feature the Penn State Ag Arena and will include the date and edition number on the bottle.

Only 300 bottles will be made, and they will be sold for $10 a piece to benefit the activities of the Penn State Department of Dairy & Animal Science. The first edition sold out quickly with only a handful left after the 2000 Dairy Expo in April. Those interested in reserving a bottle can contact Beth Raney at 405 Ag Admin, University Park PA 16802, phone 814-863-2525 or send e-mail to bnr1@psu.edu. You can also pick up your collector's second edition milk bottle at the Nittany Lion Fall Classic on Saturday, October 28, or at the Dairymen's Club's Annual Meeting on Friday, October 27.

During the annual meeting, the club will recognize this year's senior students in dairy science and will discuss club activities, including the milk bottles, a foundation herd, and a spring career night. It will also honor this year's Service Award winner, which will be a dairy producer. There will also be a social hour with wine and cheese to give members the opportunity to get re-acquainted.

To reserve tickets to the annual meeting, which will begin at 6:30 p.m. on October 27 in State College, contact Raney at 405 Ag Admin., University Park, 16802 or call 814-863-2525.

Simmental Field Day

NEW OXFORD (Adams Co.) — Larry Hughes, owner of Triple L Simmental, New Oxford, recently hosted the 2000 Pa. Simmental Field Day at his Adams County farm. The picturesque setting was also the backdrop to the Junior Simmental Association Preview Show, judged by Cliff Orley on Saturday morning. Saturday afternoon festivities included a farm safety discussion by a local community service volunteer and the Beef Quality Assurance display seminar presented by the Pennsylvania Beef Council staff.

Over 200 people attended the event.

End the Mandatory Pork Checkoff Tax!

The National Pork Producers Council has collected more than $500,000,000 through the mandatory pork checkoff tax.

What have we gotten for our money?

- 2 out of 3 hog farmers have gone out of business
- Hog farmers' share of the retail dollar has plummeted and our margins have become paper thin
- NPPC supports vertical integration and packer ownership of livestock, and has blocked legislation that will make markets open and fair for independent family farmers.

Somerset Fair Dairy Show

GAY BROWNLEE
Somerset Co. Correspondent

MEYERSDALE (Somerset Co.) — Wendy Rose's 4-year-old Jersey cow, on Aug. 23, was named Supreme Champion at the Somerset County Fair Dairy Show in addition to being the grand champion in the Jersey breed and having the best udder in the class.

Type and showmanship judge, Patty McMurray who lives in Eighty-Four, Washington County, said that Roses Pepper Magic, a daughter out of HL Duncan Pepper and Roses Hermitage Missy, could handle the most competition of any cow there. "She is the most correct cow," McMurray said about Magic.

Wendy Rose is from Hollsopple and a member of Stitch-N-Squirt 4-H Club. Shallow Run Farm, New Florence, was the cow's breeder.

Jennifer Stahl, Somerset, had the reserve champion Jersey with another 4-year-old in Field of Dreams Erin, a daughter out of Molly Brook Brass Top and SS Lester Silver Mickie B. The breeder was Rebecca Dugan from Danville.

A junior 2-year-old owned by Justin Rohrbaugh, Somerset, was grand champion in the Holstein breed. Rohryl Judge Marvelous is out of Windcrest Leadman Judge-ET and Rohryl Boggs Mary. Breeder was Justin Rohrbaugh, Somerset.

Holstein breed reserve champion was owned by Justine Stoltzus, Berlin. The spring yearling named Pennwood C Lee Vicky is out of Comestar Lee-ET and Pennwood Skybuck Haley. Breeder was Harvey Stoltzfus, Berlin.

Adam Coleman, Berlin, had the grand champion in the Brown Swiss with Colecream Sensation Bea, a fall yearling. Reserve champion was Four D Betts Brown Sugar, a junior 2-year-old owned by Derek Leister, Berlin.

From Friedens, Justin Kaufman's junior 3-year-old was grand champion in the Guernsey breed with Gregs Laura out of Rozelyn Patmar Jay Greg and Gr-Victorys Lena. Ernest Slabaugh, Meyersdale was the breeder.

The reserve champion Guernsey also belonged to Justin Kaufman of Friedens. It was a fall calf born Nov. 14, 1999 out of Coulee Crest Smokey Garwood-ET and Twinlite Etta Ellamae. Elmer Yoder, Meyersdale was the breeder of Just In Garwood Elly.

Meredith Murray, Salisbury, had the Milking Shorthorn grand champion and reserve grand champion with a set of spring yearling twins. Cranapple's Chocolate-Twin, born April 20, 1999 out of Kuszmar Alfairs Othello Tudor Hall Cranapple's was grand while her sister, Cranapple's Cherry-Twin was reserve. Breeder was Meredith Murray of Salisbury.

Eric Murray's Vinemont Evremonde Emma, born August 5, 1998 out of Melody-Lane Evremonde and Vinemont Galen Guinevere, was Ayrshire breed grand champion. Breeder was Tabb, Lyle and Sons, Inc., Kearneysville, West Virginia. For the 19-year-old, who had to watch from a wheelchair while nursing several broken bones from a fall in July, it was a bittersweet victory.

Abundant Competition At Elizabethtown Sheep Show

MICHELLE RANCK
Farming Staff

ELIZABETHTOWN (Lancaster Co.) — Approximately 180 animals competed in Elizabethtown's breeding sheep show at the recent fair, with approximately 12 different breeds represented in the shows. Eighty-five lambs competed in the market lamb competition.

Stephanie Kauffman, 11, from Landisville won supreme champion breeding sheep honors with her Southdown aged ewe. Kauffman, who will be in the sixth grade, travels to her grandparents' Mount Joy farm. Her grandparents, George and Lorraine Lewis, see Stephanie almost every day as she helps to tend the almost thirty Southdowns housed there.

Her duties there depend on the time of year. "During show season I walk the sheep," said Kauffman, "but the rest of the time I help with feeding."

Kauffman recovered from a bike accident and a broken arm this summer to return to the show ring, where she has been competing in open shows since she was five years old. She is now in her fourth year of 4-H.

The Southdown's depth of rib, clean front end, good wheel base (elbow joint to flank area), and bone structure placed the ewe at the top of the class, according to judge Lee Wagner.

"Jalen," a lamb from B & B Livestock in Ohio, turned out to be a winner for Sarah Boyd. The lamb topped the classes to move onto overall grand champion market lamb.

A sophomore elementary education major at Millersville University, Boyd bought Jalen on a trip with friend and fellow sheep ring contender Jen Zimmerman. During Boyd's first trip to Ohio for a sale, she bought Jalen on the way home, a decision which proved to be a wise one, as the lamb caught the eye of Wagner.

Judge Wagner, of Easton, judged the sheep showmanship, breeding, and market shows during the afternoon. Wagner is the flock manager for Sunrise Farms in Harrisburg.

According to Wagner in the sheep show, "the quality has taken a rise," said Wagner. "A lot of lamb classes today ran six or seven deep with really good lambs."

Coleman Farm Honored For Commitment To Clean Water

RONKS (Lancaster Co.) — Jack and Donna Coleman, owner/operators of the Cherry-Crest Farm in Paradise Township, Lancaster County, have been known for years for their Amazing Maize Maze. However, the Coleman's have recently made a name for themselves as a recipient of the Chesapeake Bay Clean Water Farm Award.

The Clean Water Farm Award, initiated in 1986, recognizes farmers within the Chesapeake Bay watershed who strive to protect local water quality. The Colemans were nominated for the award by the Lancaster County Conservation District board.

In nominating the Cherry-Crest Farm, the conservation district reported that the Colemans enjoy working with new technology and strive to improve the environment, while at the same time reducing the input cost of production.

Their farm consists of 70 milking cows, 250,000 broilers raised per year, and 175 acres of cropland. They began dairy farming in Lancaster County in 1987 and have had their farm management plan in place since 1988.

Each year the Coleman family converts a 10-acres cornfield into a maze designed specifically for their farm by a professional from Britain. Last year, more than 50,000 people paid for the privilege to walk through the cornfield during the hot, dry summer.

Last year the Coleman's created an American flag, using red, white and blue petunias that could easily be spotted from the neighboring Strasburg Railroad.

However, the Coleman family's true love has always been farming. Working with the mazes and other enterprises is a result of working with limited acreage.

The Lancaster County Conservation District reports that the Colemans take the utmost care in managing their limited acreage though. In 1990, a liquid waste storage unit that holds 550,000 gallons of dairy manure was installed on the Cherry-Crest Farm. This device has allowed for the proper management of issues such as unnecessary odor and protection of water quality while helping to maximize production. With the wise use of the manure, they are able to save money and only purchase the fertilizer nutrients that are lacking in the manure.

Jack and Donna have also taken on several voluntary management practices to help curb runoff from their farm. Through the Chesapeake Bay Program, they voluntarily participate in a program to control barnyard runoff of some 13,240 square feet.

The Colemans are long-time members of the Pennsylvania Farm Bureau, have hosted legislative tours on their farm, and have attended legislative meetings in Washington, D.C. Jack Coleman is presently serving on U.S. Congressman Joe Pitt's Agricultural Advisory Committee and has served and has served on the Lancaster County Chamber of Agriculture Committee.

CRI Names Scholarship Winners

SHAWANO, Wis. — Cooperative Resources International (CRI), headquartered here, has named the three winners of its first annual "Founders" scholarships.

They are Katie Lauber, Mt. Horeb, Wis.; Matthew Kaproth, Ithaca, N.Y.; and Michael Gowdy, Stafford Springs, Conn.

Three scholarships of $500 each are awarded annually to children of full-time CRI employees to reward young people within the CRI family who have demonstrated exceptional academic and leadership skills and have a desire to advance their education beyond traditional high school. They were established to honor the cooperative's pioneering leaders who were affiliated with organizations now a part of CRI.

Matthew Kaproth, son of Michael and Nancy Kaproth, is a graduate of Ithaca High School in Ithaca, N.Y. who will be attending SUNY College at Brockport. He hopes to someday be a secondary school teacher. Matthew was an active 4-H member for 10 years and he and his father started a new club within the 4-H program. Called the "Wingmasters," it is for members interested in raising pheasants from day-old chicks. In each of its first two years, the club raised more than 800 chicks.

Also active in scouting, Matthew has achieved the rank of Eagle Scout, the highest level in scouting. He also has accepted increasing responsibilities, from patrol leader to senior patrol leader and now to assistant scoutmaster. His major school-oriented activity was being part of Dollars For Dreams, now more than 700 members who have raised more than $250,000 for scholarships.

Katie Lauber, daughter of Richard and Terry Lauber, Mt. Horeb, Wis., ranked fifth out of 112 students in her graduation class at Mt. Horeb High School. She will begin her college career this fall at the University of Wisconsin-Madison, majoring in nursing. She would eventually like to work in a hospital, becoming a charge nurse or a clinical manager of a unit. She has recently worked in a local nursing home as a dietary assistant and resident services assistant.

In high school, she was active in music and sports and was a three-year member of National Honor Society. She was active in 4-H for eight years and served as a camp counselor.

Michael Gowdy, son of Bill and Janice Gowdy, is a Stafford High School graduate in Stafford Springs, Conn. Academically, he ranked 16th out of 95 in his class. Starting this fall, he will be attending Central Connecticut State University in New Britain, Conn., where he will be majoring in music education.

In high school, in addition to being active in music and the drama club, Michael participated in sports and was elected class president four years in a row. He was also active in 4-H and in his church, serving as a Sunday School teacher. A member of National Honor Society, he says his dream is to be a high school music teacher.

Good Haymaking Requires Drying, Storing, And 'Patience'

ANDY ANDREWS

DARLINGTON Md — Growing good alfalfa takes a couple of things good weather and patience said Richard Holloway

Along with his brother Henry and their families Richard Brothers Farm the 400-acre Holloway Brothers Farm including beef cattle and crops

The Holloways, who have expanded their hay supply business this year un derstand that while you can t control the weather having the right grass mix mowing at the right time drying it pre serving it and storing it properly can go a long way in the market

Construction was finished at the end of April on a 10 000 square foot hay bale storage area The Holloway part nership also invested recently in a hay stack wagon

Money was spent to mechanize the Hollowavs baling storing and trans porting of hay — making it readily available for customers noted Rich ard s son Rick Rick was busy cutting hay in early June at the farm

Richard noted they can supply hay quicker than customers can take it — the reason for the on farm storage and mechanization They see readily ex panding opportunities to sell their hay with the burgeoning horse farm market

There are five horse farms within three miles that need hay and straw reg

Allentown Boar Champion One Of Longest Exhibitor, Judge Have Seen

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

ALLENTOWN (Lehigh Co.) — Who says those in the show ring sometimes don't agree with the judge? John Strawbridge certainly does.

While John was readying the homebred champion January boar, a Yorkshire, he noted the boar might have been the "longest" in terms of body length he's seen.

If "they get any longer than that, you start running into problems," said Roger Bankert, Hanover, judge of the Allentown Fair swine show.

Bankert, at the two-day show Wednesday and Thursday this week, picked the boar from Busy Acre Farm, Whitehall.

John, 16, son of Donna Strawbridge, White Hall, also picked up grand champion showman in the ring Thursday morning.

A show veteran at Allentown who has won champion before, John, a junior at Whitehall High School, wasn't even sure about bringing the hog.

But with help from grandfather Calvin Lazarus, John said he "knew what was there" when the boar started to mature.

John has shown at Schnecksville, Kempton, Kutztown, and is showing at Sullivan and in Syracuse, N.Y. He also plans to show at Bloomsburg Fair, Keystone International Livestock Expo (KILE), and Farm Show.

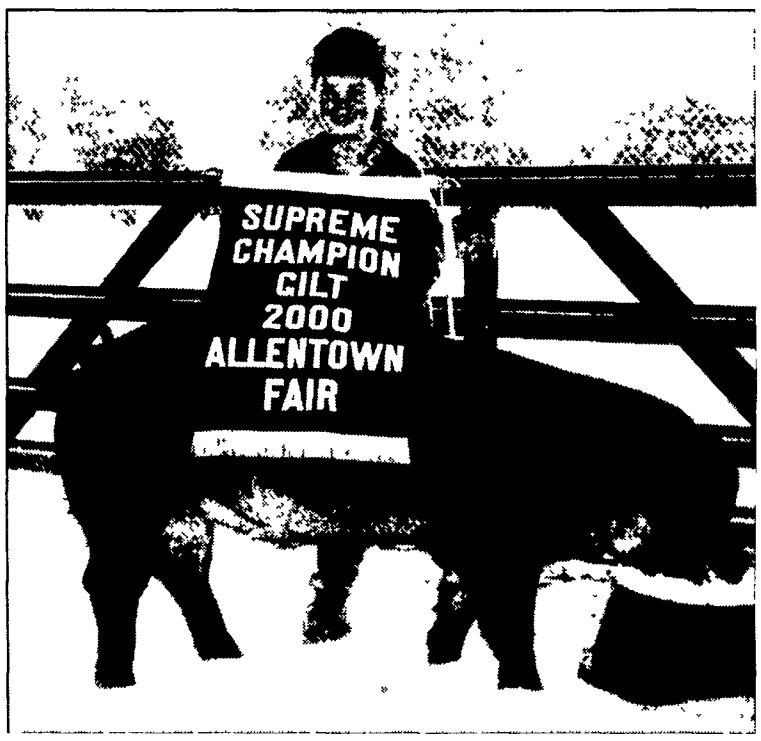
A Duroc February gilt won supreme champion gilt at the Allentown Fair Wednesday.

The champion was shown by Todd Lee Bennecoff Jr., 12, son of Todd and Cheryl Bennecoff, Kutztown.

Todd Sr. said the how was purchased at a national summer type conference in Columbus, Ohio, in July.

Todd Jr., in the seventh grade at Northwestern, said he and his dad picked the hog at the show.

Todd Jr. said the pig was "long, and she had pretty much muscle" when they purchased her, at about 200 pounds. His dad said they purchased other animals to improve their herd at the show.



Todd Lee Bennecoff Jr. won supreme champion gilt with his Duroc Wednesday at the Allentown Fair.

Todd Jr. has shown at Schnecksville and Kutztown fairs and plans to show at Sullivan County, Syracuse, N.Y., and Bloomsburg fairs. He also plans to show at KILE and Farm Show.

Supreme market champion went to the hog shown by Timothy Billig, the 234-pound medium weight champion.

At the show, champion showman went to John Strawbridge and reserve to Kelly Haas. Champion fitter went to George Billig and reserve to Lorissa Lazarus.

There were 354 hogs (264 breed and about 90 market hogs) at the Allentown Fair, with about 30 exhibitors.

Following is a list of show placings.

programs, forums and professional journal articles are all provided for these groups to utilize.

The Center also serves as a key source of information for federal, state and local government officials when important agricultural issues arise. Educational materials, in-service training, programs and general information are offered for extension faculty and staff to use. The Center provides a wide range of additional information services. It maintains a current extensive listing of publications on issues such as the PA Nutrient Management Act, Right to Farm Law, Agricultural Nuisance, Alternative Dispute Resolution and many other pertinent topics. All of the Center's publications are available free of charge on their web site at www.dsl.edu/aglaw/aglaw.html or a hard copy can be purchased at the cost of copying. Other services include research on current and emerging issues in international agricultural business and professional-level courses focused on agriculture law.

When key issues arise in the agriculture industry, the Center responds accordingly to help aid in ag law education. Currently the Center is working with Penn Ag Industries and the State Conservation Commission to provide educational seminars for Conservation Districts on the Nutrient Management Act and their responsibilities. The Center is also working with the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture on a handbook on dispute resolution in response to Senate Resolution 91.

Although the Center does not provide legal advice, nor is it intended to be a substitute for legal advice, it will provide extensive information regarding a legal issue, which may help avoid legal disputes or aid in resolving them. onal milking systems.

The four parameters most commonly measured in the various studies were standard plate count, bulk tank somatic cell count (SCC), milk freezing point and acid degree value levels. Standard plate count is a reflection of the bacterial contamination of the milk, while SCC reflects the level of mastitis in the herd. Milk freezing point is an indication of whether water is added to the milk. High acid degree values are associated with shorter shelf-life of milk and sometimes with off flavors. Acid degree values can be high if milk is not cooled properly or if excess air gets into the milking lines or pipes.

Y. van der Vorst of the Dutch Research Institute for Animal Husbandry in Lelystad reported on results summarizing total plate count, bulk tank somatic cell count and acid degree value. Results from 154 herds using AMS since 1998 were statistically evaluated in an analysis that included data from Dutch dairy farms milking in traditional barns either twice or three times per day.

Milk quality parameters declined significantly after adopting the AMS. Before installing the AMS, however, milk quality was similar. There has been an improvement in the AMS equipment used by Dutch dairy farmers, with three generations of equipment: prototypes, widely marketed production' models and second generation, or improved, production models. Milk quality on farms using the first production models was somewhat better than from herds using the prototype equipment, but still not as good as conventional herds. Early results from the second generation production models indicate that milk quality may also be better in those herds.

Several presentations indicated that milk freezing point was affected in herds using the AMS. These systems involve long milk pipelines that require automated cleaning. Milk freezing point is used to determine if water is added to milk. The changes reported at the Symposium demonstrated that some water was getting into the milk, and it was likely that not all cleaning water was being removed. Further technical engineering improvements are required.

Denmark, and some other countries, requires dairy farmers to visually inspect the milk from each quarter at each milking for clots or other evidence of poor quality milk. This is not possible in an AMS, of course, as most milkings are unattended by the farmer. Special exclusion from this rule was provided to the farmers as an experimental milk quality program.

P. Justesen of the Danish Dairy Board described their results from their "Self-Monitoring Program" concerning milk quality. The program screened cows manually by CMT for chronic mastitis, and then to relied on the AMS to use electrical conductivity to identify cows with new mastitis infections. Electrical conductivity is a standard part of the AMS, and the milk from cows identified with chronic mastitis or with milk conductivity like that of mastitis was separated by the AMS and not put in the bulk tank.

The bulk tank somatic cell count (SCC) in herds on the program was reduced significantly, and was near the level of SCC for Danish herds milked in traditional systems. Milk standard plate count (SPC) and acid degree value (ADV) levels were not affected by the voluntary program and were also worse than those from Danish herds milked in traditional systems. These results demonstrate that mastitis doesn't have to be a problem, but that some new monitoring programs may have to be adopted by dairy producers.

The lack of improvement in SPC and ADV values was of concern. A cause for the elevations in SPC were not clearly known. Some of the suggested causes were lack of thorough cleaning of cows before milking, spread of bacteria from a dirty cow to a clean cow, who happened to be milked next and inadequate bulk tank cooling. The increase in ADV was thought to be related to either the long milk pipelines so characteristic of current AMS, increased air leakage into milk lines during milker attachment or perhaps inadequate cooling of milk in the bulk tank.

BULK TANK COOLING

Traditional bulk tanks do not work adequately with AMS. Bulk tanks are designed to cool milk quickly, and their heat transfer plates are on the bottom of the tank for efficient cooling. In traditional milking systems, the flow of milk into the bulk tank is rapid, and the plates are covered by milk up to approximately 10% of capacity, often in an hour.

When the bulk tank is emptied in an AMS, the next milk is added when a cow comes into the AMS to be milked. The milk from just that one cow is insufficient to cover the cooling plates and it may be several hours before the tank reaches the 10% capacity level that seems to be needed to prevent low levels of milk from freezing on the cooling plates.

AMS developers have added a small bulk tank that they call a 'buffer'' tank. The small tank is quicker to fill, and when the total volume of milk reaches the 10% of the main bulk tank capacity, the milk is pumped from the buffer tank to the bulk tank for holding. The buffer tank is then cleaned.

G. Wolters of the Dutch Research Institute for Animal Husbandry in Lelystad reported on results of their work on milk cooling. Even using the buffer tank approach, there was an increase in bacteria levels, sometimes above the legal limit. The average for these herds with buffer milk tanks was 15,000 cfu/ml, which was similar to levels found in AMS herds, but was higher than traditional dairies. On the seven private herds using the experimental buffer tanks, the bacteria level exceeded 25,000 and 100,000 cfu/ml on average two and 0.3 times, respectively, during the 11 sampling times over a three month period. The reasons for the increased bacteria level was not apparent, but the buffer tank approach didn't seem to help that much, though it did solve milk freezing problems.

PRODUCTION RESPONSE, LABOR SAVINGS

Cows in an AMS produce significantly more milk than do cows milked twice per day in conventional systems. The amount of the increase is at least the amount of extra milk that's produced when cows are milked three times per day. Research published by R. Erdman and M. Varner at the University of Maryland demonstrated that the increase is not a percentage of previous milk production levels, as is commonly reported, but is about 7-8 lbs per cow per day regardless of the initial milk production level.

The average number of milkings per cow per day in the AMS was 2.6 to 2.8 in private dairy herds, and the production response was similar to that found in herds using 3X milking in traditional milking systems. There was limited evidence presented at the Symposium that there may actually be an increase in the amount of milk produced over 3X milking, but this observation needs to be confirmed in more studies.

Budgeting of labor was the focus of two presentations at the Symposium. Evaluation of farmers' working patterns when using the AMS was conducted by R. Kaufmann of Swiss Agricultural Research, and he demonstrated a 30% reduction in labor required to produce milk. That included all the work to maintain the AMS, feeding, cleaning and management time. C. de Koning of the Dutch Research Institute for Animal Husbandry in Lelystad reported that with just 2,500 hours of labor in one year they were able to manage with a 70 cow herd that produced 1,760,000 pounds of milk in 12 months. Again, all work was included, even maintaince of the AMS.

COW STRESS, ANIMAL WELL-BEING

Some people have postulated that cows in an AMS might be more stressed than cows in traditional systems. The results from the Symposium do not support this concern. H. Hopster from the Dutch federal agricultural research service (ID-DLO) in Lelystad reported on a study using a very sophisticated analysis of stress hormones and the response of first-calf heifers in an AMS.

All dairy farmers struggle with training of first-calf heifers in a parlor. Getting them off to the right start is the key. The Dutch study compared heifers in an AMS versus those in a traditional parlor. Their study indicated that the heifers were REEDSVILLE (Mifflin Co.) — A new livestock club helped fill a newly built building at the constantly growing Mifflin County Youth Fair, conducted at the Mifflin County Youth Park in Reedsville.

Volunteers worked fast and furious to finish the new livestock barn designated to both house livestock and provide shelter for animals and participants waiting to enter the show ring. This year, the building housed dairy animals and steers from the newly formed Dairy Feeder Steer Club. Dale Gro, one of the club's leaders, explained the purpose of the club.

"We started it for the smaller kids who didn't want to handle a 1,200-pound steer. What we're trying to do is to be a stepping stone into the dairy or beef clubs. There's a real challenge in staring a new club. Things went smoothly up until three weeks ago (before the fair), but we got most of the problems ironed out. We're going to change some rules come September."

Gro started researching the idea for a feeder steer club well in advance by talking to leaders of similar clubs in Huntingdon and Dauphin counties. He also petitioned county youth to determine the level of interest. Gro and co-leader John Sheaffer formed the club with 39 new members — 30 as 4-H members and nine from FFA. When fair week arrived, club members showed 34 feeder steers.

"We didn't turn any steers away because of weight," Gro said, "although one did weigh 598-pounds."

The calves, born between January 1 and March 31, must weigh between 300 and 600-pounds at fair time. The animals must be 50 percent dairy. Members learn showmanship and fitting and must also deal with some unique problems.

"There's a lot of work getting a calf to the feeder stage. Members learn a lot of responsibility when dealing with pneumonia, scours, dehorning, and castration, especially when starting these calves in the winter."

The hard work paid off. Matt Sellers of Thomasville judged the show. "This was definitely a well-run show. For the first year, they did a good job. I was impressed," Sellers said. "The kids were prepared. As for quality, there were more purebred Holstein here. I'd like to see more beef represented."

Thirty-three feeders were sold at the livestock auction that Friday night. Gro said buyers could look forward to purchasing calm, preconditioned feeders. Brittney Stauffer's grand champion 538-pound feeder sold for $645.60 to Mike's Landscaping and Excavating, Reedsville. Ryan Sheaffer's 460-pound reserve champion animal sold for $561.20 to Michael Felmlee General Contracting in McClure. The 33 animals sold for a total of $14,189.81.

The livestock sale began with Bill Wagner of CT Farm and Country placing the highest bid for Heidi Shaffer's grand champion rabbit. It sold for $140. Shaffer's reserve champion rabbit sold for $100 to Mark Bonson of Orrstown. Twenty-nine rabbits sold for a total of $1,835.

Wagner also brought Amy Filson's grand champion 79-pound goat for $632. Tim Houser of J-Box and Lumber bought the reserve champion animal for $158. Twenty-two goats sold for $2,960.75.

Kristen Stufft's 108-pound grand champion market lamb sold for $378 to Myers View Farm of Bedford. Salinda Speicher's 117-pound reserve champion lamb went to Leidy Chevrolet Olds Ford for $321.75. Fifty-three sheep sold for $8,371.65.

Allensville Planing Mill bought Ryan Sheaffer's 256-pound grand champion market swine for $665.60. Marcus Peachey's 249-pound reserve champion swine sold to Big Valley Feed and Grain for $572.70. A total of 109 swine sold for $29,136.60.

Hoss's Steak and Seahouse bought Joe Young's 1,355-pound grand champion beef for $3,929.50. Jeff Goss sold his 1,245-pound reserve champion beef to the Belleville Livestock Market for $2,365.50. Thirty-five beef sold for $44,524.35. The sale ended with a total of 281 animals selling for $103,303.16.

A tent, pumpkin, and quilt were auctioned to benefit the new building fund. One gallon of milk and a stainless steel milk container sold for $1,500 as the grand champion Holstein, led by Matthew J. Yoder, paraded the ring. Many of the animals were resold to benefit the building fund.

55th Southeast Dairy Show Held At Kutztown

Michael Hicks, 13, Unionville, had reserve junior champion Lineback while Becky Nolan, 15, Cochranville holds the halter of Becky Baily's Lineback. Meredith Baily, 17, showed the homebred "Pocopson Meadow Jewel," to win reserve grand champion.

Her sister Becky Bailey, 13, also had a good day in the ring with her homebred animals, as she took home junior champion and grand champion Lineback honors. The girls are the daughters of Janet and Barnard Baily of West Chester. Although they used to be more competitive, the girls say they now work together well. The sisters picked their animals from the various breeds represented on their 210-head home farm.

Dairy ambassador Kellie Phillips, 15, Mertztown, stands beside Holly Moyer, 16, holding "Ruch Jolt Cassidy," Aaron Ruch's reserve grand champion. Ruch, 17, of Andreas, holds grand champion "Ruch Jolt Corry-ET." At far right stands dairy ambassador Pam Werley, 16, Hamburg.

A combination of dairyness and strength plus a chiseled mammary system and deepness in the cleft put Ruch's Holstein at the top of the classes. Ruch, a senior at Tamaqua, is the son of Brian and Brenda Ruch of Ruch Farms. According to Ruch, who owns six cows, these two seemed to be the best show animals and have the best type of the herd. Ruch is a nine-year 4-H participant and show ring veteran.

Sisters Rosie Moyer, 14, and Holly Moyer, 15, took home reserve and grand champion placings, respectively, in the Red and White classes. They are the daughters of Paul and Lucinda Moyer of Peek-A-View Farm, Bernville.

MICHELLE RANCK
Lancaster Farming Staff

Kutztown Fairgrounds hosted a large gathering of both colored and Holstein breeds as 4-H'ers from ten Pennsylvania counties gathered to exhibit not only their animals but their experience in fitting and showing.

Michael Kunkle, owner of a dairy replacement farm in Jonestown, judged the Holstein show. Besides participating on the state 4-H judging team, Kunkle went to a one-year judging school. This show is the fifth Kunkle has judged this season.

Sue Beshore, New Cumberland, and Meranda Sellers, Annville, judged the fitting and showmanship talents of 4-H'ers in the Holstein show. Both have had prior 4-H and judging experience. Beshore, a former show ring participant herself, has children who are currently in 4-H. She is also a 4-H leader.

According to Sellers, who participated on a collegiate judging team, cleanliness, well-trimmed hair, and clean ears were tip-offs for the judges.

In the colored breeds ring Jeff Myers of Westminster, Md. judged the animals. Myers, who judges 8 to 10 shows a year has judged in 22 different states and South America. He has judged since he was nine years old in the 4-H program before he moved on to compete on University of Maryland's collegiate team, where he won high individual in the national intercollegiate dairy judging contest. He also coached the Michigan State judging team while he pursued his masters degree at the university, a team which went on to win the intercollegiate dairy judging contest.

"As a whole, for a district show, this show was definitely above average in quality of animals," said Myers. "While the quantity was not high, the quality is, and from a judge's standpoint that is very pleasing."

Patty Huff of Nottingham judged fitting and showmanship the colored breeds show. Huff, who has shown animals for 30 years, showed at Kutztown when she was in 4-H, besides showing on the national level. She recently served as the Delaware State Fair conformation judge. Huff focused on overall appearance but also made sure that the details were taken care of on the animals.

"The overall impressions is important," said Huff.

In the showmanship division, Huff made sure the 4-H'ers paid attention not only to the judge but also to the animal they were showing.

A family affair: from left, Candice Knight, 13, Trisha Knight, 12, Christi Knight, 14, Justin Hall, 14, Cameron Knight, 7, and Shane Hall, 12, all from Woodbine Farms in Airville, participated in the recent dairy show. Woodbine farms took home champion and reserve champion spots in the Holstein show, with Justin Hall's "Woodbine Durham Macadamia" winning the champion spot in the Holstein show and "Woodbine Elton Candy" taking reserve champion placing.

Trisha and Christi are the daughters of Paul and Jeann Knight, Candice and Cameron are the children of George and Naomi Knight, and Justin and Shane are the sons of Cindy and Mark Hall.

48 Union County 4-H Members Sell Animals At West End Fair

LAURELTON (Union Co.) — The 22nd Annual Union County West End Fair Junior Livestock Sale was conducted here recently.

Forty-eight different members of several Union County 4-H clubs and the Mifflinburg FFA Chapter sold animals at the sale.

One hundred lots containing four rabbit meat pens, 12 steers, 27 market hogs, and 57 market lambs were sold.

Forty-five buyers supported the youth by purchasing animals at the 75th annual Union County West End Fair. This year's sale grossed more than $41,700, which broke the previous record set in 1996.

Bryan Imes of Port Royal served as sale auctioneer. Earlier in the week, Bob Mikesell, Penn State senior extension associate, served as the livestock judge.

Grand champion and reserve champion market steers were purchased by Robert Hamm for the Country Cupboard Restaurant in Lewisburg. A bid of $5 per pound was accepted for the 1,275-pound Angus steer owned by Rhonda Hook of Middleburg. The first-year beef exhibitor is the daughter of Wanda Hook and is a member of the Mifflinburg FFA Chapter.

West End Fair champion hog buyer was Wiand Enterprises, represented by Michael and Justin Wiand and Ken Fetteroth with owner Doug Wolfe.

The 1,355-pound reserve champion market steer was sold for $1.75 per pound and was owned by Adam Wolfe. Adam is a 4-H member from Lewisburg and is the son of Dennis and Anna Wolfe. Other steers were sold at an average price of 88 cents per pound.

The champion market hog was sold for $5.50 per pound and was purchased by Wiand Enterprises of Mifflinburg. Glenn Wiand and Ken Fetteroth bought the 238-pound Hampshire/Duroc crossbred hog from Douglas Wolfe. Doug is a graduate of the Mifflinburg Area High School and is the son of William and Jean Wolfe of Mifflinburg. Doug is the 2000 winner of the Pennsylvania FFA Diversified significantly calmer and had better stress hormone levels than those milked in a traditional parlor. There was discussion at the meeting that part of the increased production response of the cows in an AMS might be due to lowered stress levels. No data was presented to support this hypothesis, however.

European Reality

Animal well-being, or welfare, is an important concern in Europe. More important than in the United States, according to many observers. There were two presentations at the conference discussing how AMS was viewed according to bioethics. The speakers concurred that there was good support for the notion that an AMS was more ethical for animal well-being than traditional systems. Since cows could choose when to go to the AMS, this ability to have a choice was considered important. Further, many herds are now using an AMS within a grazing system. Again, grazing was considered to be good by bioethics standards, so that was another positive aspect of the AMS.

AMS IN THE UNITED STATES

There are approximately a dozen AMS systems in Canada, and D. Reinemann of the University of Wisconsin described a dairy farm in Wisconsin that was the first private farm in the US to use an AMS. They had been using their system for approximately two weeks. The University of Wisconsin was building a barn for an AMS, and their system should be operating this fall, perhaps in time for Dairy Expo in Madison.

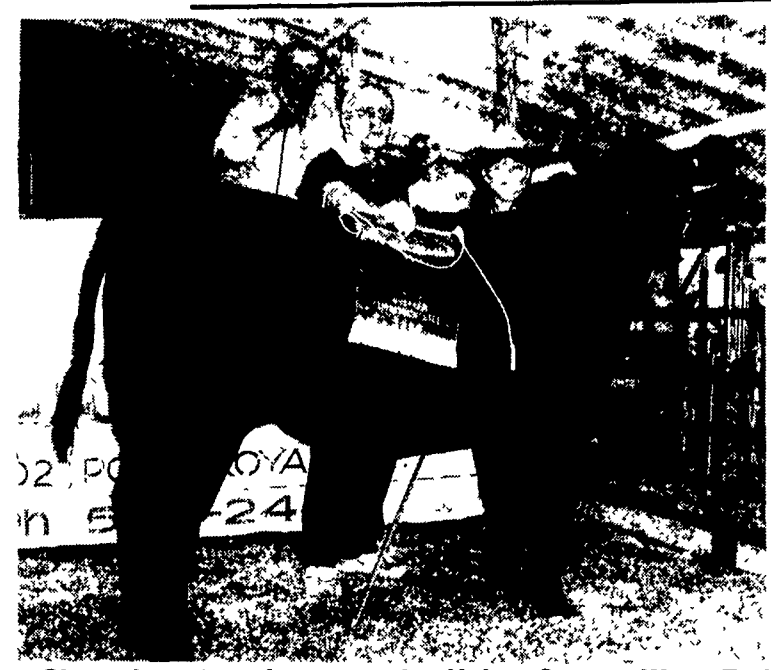
Livestock Proficiency Award this past summer.

Adam Wolfe was the owner of the 245-pound Hampshire/Duroc cross reserve champion. It was purchased by the Mifflinburg Bank and Trust Company for $4 per pound. The average sale price for the other 25 hogs was $1.68 per pound.

The grand champion market lamb was purchased by the Mifflinburg Bank and Trust Company for $5 a pound. The 138-pound lamb was owned by Jason Martin of Lewisburg. Jason is a member of the Mifflinburg FFA Chapter and is the son of Harvey and Teresa Martin.

A 120-pound lamb owned by Katy Troester of Mifflinburg was named reserve. It was sold to the Mifflinburg Bank and Trust Company for $5 a pound. Katy is the daughter of Glenn and Nancy Troester. The FFA graduate is employed by the Mifflinburg Bank.

The average sale's price for the nonchampion lambs was $1.30 per pound.



Champion steer buyer at the Union County West End Fair was Robert Hamm of Country Cupboard in Lewisburg, here with owner Rhonda Hook. Auctioneer Bryan Imes is in the background.

Contest Recipes Make End-Of-Summer SIZZLE

MUSHROOM BURGUNDY BEEFBURGERS

2 pounds ground chuck
1 cup soft bread crumbs
1 egg
¼ cup red wine
2 tablespoons diced green onions
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper

In a large bowl, mix ground chuck, bread crumbs, egg, onion, salt, and pepper. Shape into six burgers, about one-inch thick.

Sauce:

4 tablespoons sliced mushrooms
2 tablespoons diced green onion
½ cup butter
¼ cup red wine

Cook onions and mushrooms in butter until tender. Add wine. Brush burgers with sauce. Grill or broil until desired doneness, brushing frequently with sauce. I cook seven minutes on one side while basting and turn over on other side for 4 minutes while basting. Remaining sauce may be heated and served with burgers on a toasted roll. Kaiser rolls are best.

We like this hamburger recipe when we want more than a burger on a paper plate. This is a burger with a candle.

TAILGATE SOUP

1 pound ground beef, browned
1 envelope dry onion soup mix
3 cups liquid, V-8 juice or water
¾ cup dry macaroni or tortellini
12-14-ounce can stewed tomatoes

Mix all ingredients together. Simmer 20 minutes on medium heat in large saucepan. May be cooked in crock pot on low setting for 2-3 hours. Add pasta in the last hour to hour and half in crock pot so it does not become too soft.

This is a great recipe. It was given to me by a co-worker. You may make substitutions to adapt whatever you have in the pantry. For the liquid, I have sometimes substituted tomato sauce diluted with water. You may also use different kinds of pasta.

My children really enjoy this dish when I make it with tortellini. It is a quick dish to make at the last minute or to make ahead. My husband and children, Kate, 8, and Kyle, 4, also enjoy helping to make the dish.

We have a herd of registered Angus cows and some shorthorn heifers for 4-H projects and have never stopped.

VEAL MOZZARELLA

1½ pounds veal cutlets, cut ½-inch thick
¼ cup olive oil
1 small onion, chopped
¼ cup chopped green pepper
8-ounce can tomato sauce
¼ cup tomato juice
1 teaspoon garlic salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
⅛ teaspoon powdered marjoram
⅛ teaspoon powdered oregano
4-ounces mozzarella cheese, softened

Brown cutlets on both sides in olive oil in large skillet. Remove meat to shallow 8x12-inch baking dish.

Saute onion and green pepper in skillet.

Stir in tomato sauce, juice, and remaining spices to herbs. Simmer 10 minutes. Pour sauce over cutlets. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes. Sprinkle cheese over meat. Return to oven until cheese melts, 2 to 3 minutes.

Our family really enjoys veal. Besides serving veal sausage for breakfast at our bed and breakfast, we especially enjoy this veal and tomato and cheese combination.

Our (Verdant View Farm in Paradise) specialty sausages served for breakfast include smoked veal sausage, bochwurst and bratwurst.

CHEESEBURGER PIE

1 pound ground beef
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup grated cheese (any variety)
¾ cup Bisquick baking mix
¾ cup chopped onion
¼ teaspoon pepper
1½ cups milk
3 eggs

Preheat oven to 400 degrees. Lightly grease 9-inch pie pan. Brown ground beef and onion until brown. Drain grease. Stir in salt and pepper. Spread in pie pan and sprinkle with cheese.

Beat together eggs, milk, and baking mix until smooth. Pour over meat and cheese.

Bake until golden brown or until knife inserted into center comes out clean, approximately 30 minutes. Let set 5 minutes before serving.

This is a favorite meal for our family. Favorite for mom because it is quick and easy to prepare. The children really like it too. Even my three-year-old who is a picky meat eater, always asks for more.

We live on a dairy farm near Holtwood. We milk 55 cows.

We have four children, Janeice, 17; Stephen, 16; Andrea, 8; and Courtney, 3.

The farm is a good place to not only raise animals but also to raise good healthy children. They love the freedom to run and play.

STUFFED FLANK STEAK

1½ pounds flank steak
8-ounce package crushed corn bread stuffing
1 cup chopped onion
1 cup chopped celery
¼ cup minced fresh parsley
2 eggs
1¼ cups beef broth
⅓ cup butter, melted
½ teaspoon seasoned salt
½ teaspoon pepper

In large bowl, combine stuffing, onion, celery, and parsley. In a small bowl, beat the eggs, stir in broth and butter. Pour over stuffing mixture. Sprinkle with seasoned salt and pepper, stir well. Pound steak to ½-inch thickness. Spread 1½ cups stuffing mixture over steak. Roll up, starting with a short side, tie with string. Place in a 5-quart slow cooker. Remaining stuffing can be wrapped tightly in foil and placed over the rolled steak. Cover and cook on low for 6-8 hours or until meat thermometer inserted in stuffing reads 165 degrees. Remove string before slicing.

Note: No liquid is added to the slow cooker, the moisture comes from the meat.

My family looks forward to this dinner every time I make this recipe. I especially like it because it is so easy to prepare, put in the crockpot and forget about it all day. At dinnertime the meat and stuffing is ready and all I do is prepare a vegetable of an excellent meal.

Why Recycle?

Recycling is a way to manage the millions of tons of trash that humans produce. Recycling saves energy and natural resources. It's a great way for you to help protect the environment.

More than 50 percent of all the trash from your home is made of paper. When we recycle these items we save energy. For instance, making paper from recycled paper products uses 64 percent less energy than making it from the wood pulp that it originally came from!

Containers made from recycled plastic use 60 percent less energy than making the same product from new materials. It's very important that we recycle.

Look around your home and find things that you can easily recycle. For instance, dead leaves and lawn clippings can be turned into compost. Make garbage bins for certain items-one for glass, plastic, paper and food waste. Glass, plastic and paper items can be delivered to a local recycling plant instead of a garbage dump. Food waste can be composted along with the lawn clippings for mulch.

Do your part to help keep our environment healthy-recycle!

Taste Buds, Appetite Diminish With Age

For many older people, eating is a social occasion and so they aren't as enthusiastic about it when alone. Plus, people lose taste buds as they age. At 30, people average 245 taste buds on each papilla - the tiny bumps - on your tongue. By age 70, people average 88 taste buds per papilla.

Your mother may also be experiencing a bout of depression, which also affects appetite. Or she may have a medical problem. Be sure she talks with her doctor about her change in eating habits to rule out anything serious.

Still, there are things you can do to help. First, know that sweet and salty tastes seem to be the first to be affected by the decreasing number of taste buds. That means that normal seasoning may seem bland. Increase the amount and variety of herbs to give a flavor jolt to favorite foods.

Be cautious about increasing salt-your mother might be salt-sensitive (as is about 10 percent of the adult North American population) and that could affect her blood pressure.

As you and your mother try new foods and recipes, keep the food pyramid in mind for good nutrition. Getting plenty of grains, fruits, vegetables, protein and dairy products is as important for older people as it is for anyone else. Try adding barley to stews or soups, and cheese or nonfat dry milk to cream soups. Keep fresh, frozen, canned and dried fruit on hand for snacking. To add flavor to vegetables without a lot of fat, add butter-flavored sprinkles instead of butter or margarine.

Usually, people's calorie requirements decrease as they age, simply because they're less active and their metabolism slows down. That means it's even more important to eat nutrient-dense foods and to keep high-fat and high-sugar foods to a minimum.

Finally, it's also very important for older people to make sure they get enough fluids. The thirst mechanism doesn't always work very well as people age, so encourage your mother to sip on a glass of water and refill it throughout the day.

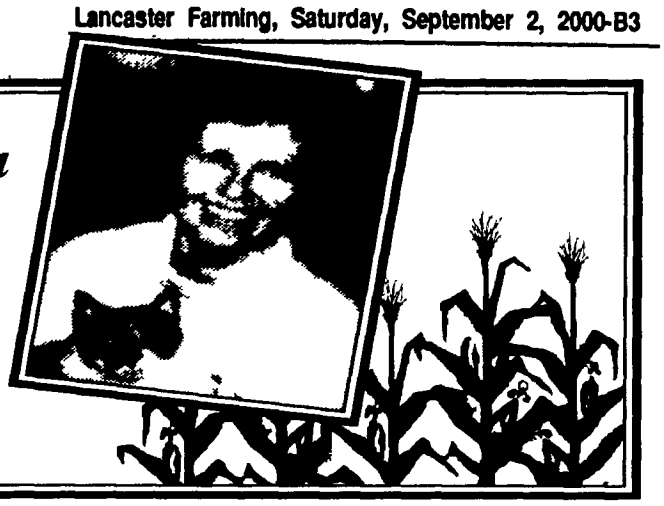
On Being a Farm Wife (and other hazards)

Joyce Bupp



Shopping is not one of my favorite pastimes.

More like a necessary evil. A couple of clashes with mass marketing have only underlined my concerns that, if we are living in a service-based economy, we are in deeper "doo-doo" than what we've been hauling out of the manure storage the last few days.

Case in point: One of those numerous Sunday paper advertising flyers from a large national chain store advertises sneakers on sale. I need a pair for the barn. My barn sneakers see heavy wear, from milk house cleaning agents to heifer pen manure to garden mud. They need frequent replacement, preferably obtained on sale.

This particular venture required a stop outside my usual go-and-grab shopping paths, and was a side trip tacked on to the end of an already long day. It took some sleuthing through the shoe department of the mass marketer before I turn up one pair in my size of the pre-advertised shoes. Grabbing the prize, I head for the check-out line, where the clerk rings up a price nearly double the advertised amount. I question the price. She shrugs and tells me that's what the registers says they are.

"Those shoes are on sale, right back there in your shoe department; go back and check, right back there," I suggest in an attempt to take a firm stand, while trying to remain polite. "That's the only reason I got them."

The clerk stares at me with irritation, sighs punches a few more numbers, but ignores my suggestion to make a price check. I get the sneakers at the sale price. (Later I notice the receipt shows I had a "manufacturer's coupon." Whatever.)

And go out on the road to battle traffic the rest of the way home. Satisfied with the price. But irritated that I had to show an "attitude" to buy at the advertised price.

Two days later, en route home from a distant meeting, I make a quick stop at a farm supply store far from home to pick up replacement nipples for our calf feeding bottles. The price on a large box of them says $1.25. I juggle eight up to the counter, the clerk rings them up and announces that my bill is $16 and some odd cents.

New math or no new math, that didn't calculate in my head. Again, I question the price. The clerk grumbles, goes for a price check, reluctantly re-rings up the sale and snippily informs me that it's the "last time" the box will have THAT price written on it.

Well, excuuuuuuse me.

I exit the farm supply store, bag in hand, climb in my car, and head out into rush hour traffic on a busy road.

A few more days later, after evening chores, I head for one of my favorite supermarkets. Since this is a pantry-stock-up-on-stuff run anyway, I add the coupons of several "free specials" to my list. And find that the store has run out of several of the "free" coupon items. No I can't have a rain check, the clerk tells me, and no, I can't get a substitute product. But I can come back later in the week when they have it. So who has time for that?

Fed up with "customer service" skirmishes, I say no more, make a trip to the manager's office, and firmly — but politely — protest. The manager says it's store policy to not substitute — but I can bring the coupon back on another trip. But I have to have the receipt with me for my day's purchases. No, they can't validate the coupon in another way.

I climb behind the wheel and head home, vowing to shop in a different direction next time.

Would the sociologists pondering the reasons for an escalating rise in public rage, please give me a call?

Do You Suffer From Fibromyalgia?

When I was introduced to New Image I was 50 pounds over weight and suffered from fibromyalgia I was so depressed and in pain the majority of the time I was taking steroids and four other medications, one of which made me so 'groggy' I could hardly get out of bed and another gave me ulcers I began taking New Image secretly because I thought my family would make fun of me After a month, I discovered I had lost eight pounds and seven inches Wow! Then it dawne don me, I was feeling better, the depression and pain were gone In two months I was off all medications "I feel SUPERIFIC!" Now two years later I have lost 43 pounds and 30 inches Than you New Image for giving me a new life again Judy Swift - Mt Washington KY

Beef Contest Entries Make End-Of-Summer Sizzle

WIGGLERS

3 pounds ground beef
9 slices bacon
3 onions
3 cups potatoes
3 cups celery
3 cups carrots
Salt
1 pound hot dogs
3 cans peas
2 cans cream of celery soup
1½ cups macaroni, cooked to make 3 cups
1 quart tomato juice
1 pound velveeta cheese

Fry bacon, remove from pan, add onion and ground beef in bacon drippings. Brown. Put in roaster and add cooked carrots, peas, potatoes, celery, and macaroni. Lay bacon on top, pour tomato juice and soup over this. Put cheese on top. Bake 350 degrees for 1½ hours.

I like this recipe because it's big and you have a full course meal in one dish. I like to make it when we have workmen for a meal. Leftovers can be frozen.

HAMBURGER SPECIAL

1 pound ground beef
1 large chopped onion
1 large red or green pepper, chopped
1 can golden or regular mushroom soup
1 can cheddar cheese soup
1 soup can water
1 quart cooked sliced potatoes
Salt and pepper desired

Brown crumbled ground beef in a skillet. Add chopped onion and pepper, brown well. Drain fat. Add soups and water. Simmer slowly 15-20 minutes. Add well drained, sliced cooked potatoes. Simmer another 20 minutes to get the flavor through potatoes. Serve in soup bowls.

Seriously, this resembles canned dog food but it is very delicious meal served at the Black House.

We live on a farm and raise our own beef cattle so we have this meal quite often and our children and grandchildren love it. Many times I triple the recipe. I love to cook and bake in my spare time.

GLAZED MEATBALLS

3 pounds ground beef
1½ cups milk
2 cups rolled oats
2 beaten eggs
1 small onion
2 teaspoons salt
½ teaspoon pepper
2 teaspoons chili powder

Mix together ingredients and form into balls. Place in baking dish and dribble glaze over them.

Glaze:
1 cup ketchup
1 cup water
1½ cups brown sugar
2 tablespoons liquid smoke
½ teaspoon garlic powder

Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes, covered

I especially like this recipe because it is large and I can divide and freeze some of it.

CHUCK WAGON TORTILLA STACK

1 pound ground beef
2-3 garlic cloves, minced
16-ounce can baked beans (with cilantro and cumin added)
14½-ounce can stewed tomatoes, undrained or 1¾ cups fresh chopped tomatoes
11-ounce can kernel corn, drained
4-ounces chopped green chilies (optional)
¼ cup barbecue sauce
2-4 teaspoons chili powder, as desired
4 10-inch flour tortillas
1½ cups shredded Pepper Jack, Cheddar, Monterey Jack cheese
Shredded lettuce, chopped red onion, chopped tomatoes, and sour cream

In a skillet, cook beef and garlic until meat is no longer pink, drain. Add beans, tomatoes, corn, chilies (optional), barbecue sauce, and chili powder. Bring to a boil. Reduce heat; simmer, uncovered, for 10-12 minutes or until liquid is reduced. Coat a large deep skillet with nonstick cooking spray. Place one tortilla in skillet; spread with 1½ cups meat mixture. Sprinkle with one-third of the cheese. Repeat layers three times. Cover and cook on low for 15 minutes or until cheese is melted and tortillas are heated through. Cut into wedges. Serve with toppings of your choice.

Yield: 4-6 servings.

When my mother serves this meal, she needs to make two skillets worth to feed our family of six. Everyone wants seconds!

Not only is it quick and easy to make, but you can control the level of spiciness in many ways - by using different varieties of cheese, by increasing or decreasing the chili powder or by selecting a different flavor of beans.

LASAGNA TOSS

1 pound ground beef
½ cup onion
½ teaspoon salt
1¾ cup spaghetti sauce
6-ounces spiral noodles (cooked)
1 cup cottage cheese
2 cups mozzarella cheese
Grated parmesan

Brown ground beef, onion, and salt. Stir in spaghetti sauce. Simmer until heated. Remove 1 cup meat sauce and set aside. Cook noodles and drain. Stir noodles into remaining sauce. Place half of noodle mixture into 2-quart baking dish. Cover with cottage cheese and half of mozzarella cheese. Place remaining noodle mixture on top. Add 1 cup meat sauce and remaining mozzarella cheese and sprinkle with parmesan cheese. Bake at 350 degrees for 20-25 minutes and let set 5 minutes.

BEEF PARMIGIANA

2 pounds round steak
3 tablespoons flour
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
½ teaspoon basil leaves
3 tablespoons oil
15-ounce can tomato Sauce:
½ teaspoon pepper
1 egg, slightly beaten
1 tablespoon water
½ cup bread crumbs
¼ cup parmesan cheese
½ teaspoon basil leaves
3 tablespoons cooking oil
15-ounce can tomato sauce
1 clove garlic, crushed
1 tablespoon sugar
½ teaspoon oregano
4-ounces mozzarella cheese

Cut steak into serving pieces. Mix flour, salt, and pepper. Dredge meat in flour mixture and pound. Combine bread crumbs, parmesan cheese, and basil leaves. Dip meat in egg and water mixture. Dredge in crumb mixture. Brown in skillet with hot oil.

Place in baking dish. Combine tomato sauce, garlic, sugar, and oregano. Pour mixture over meat. Cover with tight foil and bake one hour in 350 degree oven. Place mozzarella cheese on each slice of meat. Bake additional 3 to 5 minutes or until cheese melts. Serve sauce with meat. Makes 6 servings.

Good served with pasta and salad. This is very good to take to a covered dish dinner.

BEEF AND PEPPER STRIPS MANILA

2½ pounds beef roast, any cut
2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
2 teaspoons vinegar
2 tablespoons brown sugar
2 tablespoons cornstarch
1 egg
2-4 tablespoons canola oil
2 red bell peppers

Slice the raw roast into ¼-inch strips across the grain. Cut the strips into one-inch pieces.

Whisk together the Worcestershire sauce, vinegar, brown sugar, cornstarch, and egg. Pour over beef strips in non-metal bowl. Cover and refrigerate four hours.

Cut the sweet bell peppers into bite-size strips and have ready in a separate bowl.

Heat 2 tablespoons canola oil in a large teflon skillet at 400 degrees. Lift meat from marinade. Add meat all at once to hot oil and fry, stirring and flipping the pieces constantly.

As meat begins browning, add a little more oil and then add the pepper strips. Continue to stir fry until beef is tender enough to cut with the side of a fork and peppers are crisp tender.

Serve over a platter of hot fluffy rice or egg noodles.

I have lived near Manila in my childhood and very much enjoy Philippine cuisine.

We are a family of four with two preschool children. This recipe is a way to get beef tender enough for them to chew.

Because the preparation can be done ahead of time, this recipe is nice to use when there is little time to spend cooking or when the weather is too warm to enjoy standing over the stove.

POOR MAN'S STEAK

2 pounds ground beef
1 cup cracker crumbs
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 chopped onion
1 cup tomato juice

Mix together ingredients. Mixture may seem stiff and dry. Shape into loaf. Wrap and chill in refrigerator overnight. Cut into ½-inch slices and roll in flour. Brown quickly on both sides. Place pieces in roaster. Mix 1 can cream of mushroom soup and 1 cup water together and pour over meat. Bake at 350 degrees for 1½ hours.

My family likes when I serve this and it is handy for company dinner too. Make ahead and freeze.

MA'S PULLED BEEF

3-4 pound beef roast (prefer bottom round or rump)
1 cup water, divided
½ cup ketchup
1 teaspoon chili powder
1½ tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
2 tablespoons vinegar
1 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon sugar
1 teaspoon dry mustard
1 medium onion, finely chopped

The night before serving, place roast in crock pot with ½ cup water, turn low.

Mix remaining ingredients and refrigerate overnight. In the morning, shred roast with a fork and put back into crock pot with the refrigerated mix.

This can stay in the slow cooker on low until mealtime and is best served on kaiser rolls. Also good just right out of the crock...m-mm good. Makes a super after-church lunch or a great addition to any potluck dinner.

SAVORY SWEET ROAST

3-4 pounds blade roast
1 onion
1 can cream of mushroom soup
½ cup water
¼ cup sugar
¼ cup vinegar
2 teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon mustard
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce

Brown meat on both sides in skillet. Add sliced onions. Blend together remaining ingredients. Pour over meat. Cover and simmer 2½-3 hours or until tender.

My family loves roast beef made this way. It stays very tender. We like to use the juice as gravy after the roast is done. Serve over cooked noodles or rice.

MEAT AND MACARONI SUPPER

½ cup onion
2 tablespoons butter
1 can cream of mushroom soup
1 cup tomatoes, cut up or tomato juice
Dash pepper
1 teaspoon salt
3 cups elbow macaroni, cooked
1 pound ground beef
¼ cup grated cheese

Brown ground beef and onion in butter. Mix remaining ingredients with ground beef and onion mixture. Pour into 1½-quarts greased casserole and bake at 350 degrees for 35 minutes.

My mom made this recipe often while I was growing up. Now it is also my family's favorite casserole, and I make it often for them.

MEATBALL STEW

Combine in large kettle:
2 (14½-ounce cans beef broth
2 (10½-ounce cans cream of mushroom soup
4 medium potatoes, diced
4 carrots, diced
¼ cup chopped onions, or to taste
½ teaspoon parsley

Meatballs:
1½ pounds ground beef
1 cup rolled oats
1 egg
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon marjoram (optional)
½ teaspoon thyme (optional)

Brown in large skillet, drain off fat, and add to stew. Cook 30 minutes or until tender.

Our family thinks this stew is delicious. It's even better served with shredded cheese. Sometimes on busy days, I just put it in the crockpot.

FAMILY FAVORITE MEATLOAF

1½ pounds ground beef
¾ cup rolled oats
¾ cup tomato juice
¼ cup finely chopped onion
1 egg, beaten
1½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
4-ounce can mushrooms, drained
Sliced white American cheese
Pizza sauce for topping

Combine the first seven ingredients. Mix well. Press one half of meat mixture in bottom and a little up the sides of a 8x11-inch pan. Put mushrooms on the meat in pan, then one layer of sliced cheese. Put remaining half of meat mixture on top of cheese, sealing the edges. Bake 45 minutes at 350 degrees; remove from oven, top with pizza sauce, and bake 15 minutes longer. Yield: 8-10 servings.

Since I tried this recipe, we rarely have meatloaf any other way.

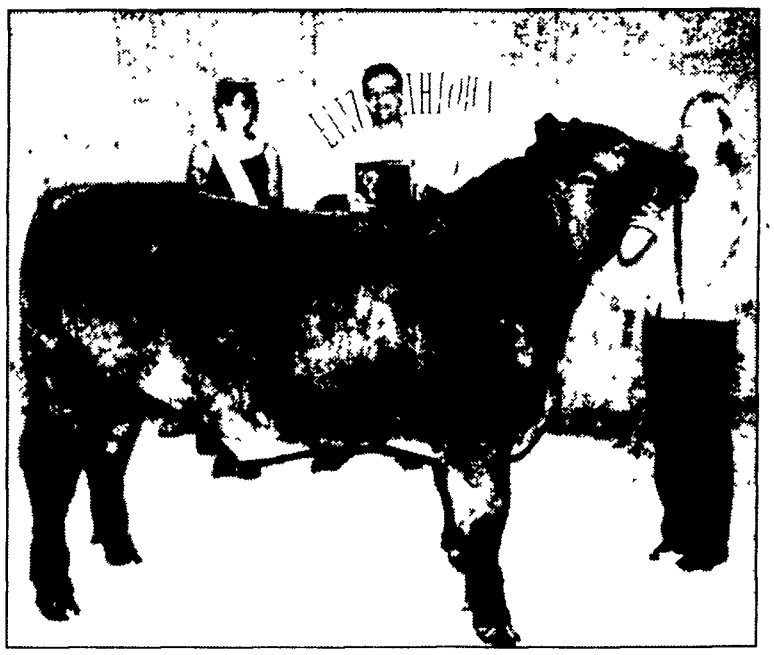
Goat Blazes Path As First-Ever Supreme Over All Species At E-town Fair

Lt. Gov. Mark Schweiker and Dorothy Mentzler present a trophy to Amanda Grube who shows the supreme breeding champion over all breeds at the Elizabethtown Fair.

Grand champion market lamb shown by Joelynn Donough sells to Ted Bowers of First Union Bank for $325. With them is Elizabethtown Fair Queen Monica George.



Sarah Zurin sells her supreme champion steer, a shorthorn named Chessie, to David Yeisley, Hoss's Steak & Seahouse. With them is Elizabethtown Fair Queen Monica George.

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

ELIZABETHTOWN (Lancaster Co.) — Amanda Grube and her LaMancha dairy goat Samantha blazed a path for the species when judges selected it as supreme over all breeding champions at the Elizabethtown Fair.

"I'm glad to represent the first dairy goat to receive this honor," the 15-year-old Amanda said.

"It's an honor that is long overdue," said Lori Little, judge for the event and livestock extension agent. The supreme generally goes to larger animals such as a cow, beef, sheep, or swine.

The five-year-old homebred LaMancha has been winning shows every year in many places for its outstanding dairy characteristics.

Amanda has been a veteran winner since she was three years old and started showing for the family's Ziegenfeld Farm (German for goat and pasture). Daughter of Tim and Roxanne Grube, Amanda helps with the herd of 60 goats. She also is the president of the county 4-H goat club.

In addition to selecting the supreme animal over all breeding species, judges also selected a supreme market animal over all breeds. Lynn Brandt, Middletown, swept that competition with her 262-pound hog, a crossbred of Yorkshire, Hampshire, and Duroc.

Bill Arnold, Manheim Auto Auction pays the highest price ever for a goat at Elizabethtown Fair. The grand champion meat goat, shown by Brian Geib, Manheim, sold for $1,400. With them is Elizabethtown Fair Queen Monica George.

Although Lynn lives on a hog and dairy farm, she said it was the first time she entered a hog at Elizabethtown.

After selecting the supreme breeding and market champions, the 4-H and FFA market animals were auctioned by Harry Bachman.

Brian Geib was the happy recipient of the highest price ever paid for a goat in the history of the Elizabethtown Fair. Manheim Auto Auction paid $1,400 for the 75-pound champion. Incidentally Brian's been claiming the champion market goat for the past four years.

The Manheim Auto Auction also purchased the reserve market goat shown by Carolyn Kensinger, Manheim.

Joelynn Donough's grand champion lamb sold to First Union for $325. John Tracy's reserve champion market lamb sold to Lebanon Valley Bank for $270.

The grand champion pen of rabbits sold to Farmers' First Bank for $300. Ken Myer, fair president, paid $160 for the reserve champion rabbit pen.

Virgina Groff of Groff's Meats presents a trophy to Lynn Brandt for showing the supreme champion hog over all market species.

Blizzard, John Tracy's reserve champion market lamb, sells to Mike Firestine of Lebanon Valley and Fulton Bank. With them is Elizabethtown Fair Queen Monica George.

September 10 Is Grandparents' Day

Being a grandparent is one of the great gifts in life. What happens between grandparents and young grandchildren is tremendously powerful, starting with the birth of the grandchild. While grandparents receive great pleasure, they are also giving something invaluable to the grandchild.

Grandparents fulfill the function of accepting a grandchild just as he or she is. That's a valuable role in a child's life because it builds ego, which children desperately need. It is a service to them for the rest of their lives. Grandchildren of any age will appreciate a grandparent's gift of these 10 non-tangible things.

• Self-worth

When children are recognized in a positive manner it makes them feel important. Every time Grandma treasures a grandchild's drawing or Grandpa praises a job well done, the child begins to think that they are important.

• Example

The experiences grandparents have with their families not only build family strength for the present, but also provide a model for future parents and grandparents.

• Caring

Be interested in your grandchildren's world. Grandparents can do much to ease the pressures upon parents while grandchildren are young.

• Understanding Others

Young children can have extremely positive feelings about older people. They view them as being warm, permissive, and helpful. Studies reveal that the more good experiences a child has with an older person, the better he feels about growing old.

• Knowledge

Share your experiences — the skills you have acquired and your special interest. Whether it is gardening, cooking, sewing, fishing, art, or story telling, make your grandchildren a part of it. This sharing may bring surprises for all of you.

• Past

A living history book. Grandparents who have seen the first computer or the first space flight are experts in change. They can tell their grandchildren stories about their experiences to share important principles. This helps youngsters realize that they are living in a world in which anything can happen.

• Heritage

Whether you live many miles away from your grandchildren or just down the block, grandparents can do much to give children a sense of security and belonging as they share memories about the days when their children were young.

• Practice Time

Grandparents can provide time and attention for anything on which a child needs special practice. Practicing with grandparents provides a warm comfortable environment, free from critical judgment of peers, and enables a child to successfully gain confidence to meet new challenges and experiences.

• Happy Memories

Special moments, words, and gestures can make happy memories for a grandchild.

• Love and Acceptance

It means a lot to know that whether you fail a test, break a glass, or lose a ball game, grandparents still love and accept you. the gift of "I love you, no matter what," whether spoken aloud, written in a letter, or shown by deeds, will always be the most treasured and remembered present of all.

In return, grandparents receive the enjoyment of making an impact on the future generation of their family. They gain support, encouragement, companionship, and a great deal of satisfaction from their grandchildren's achievements. Grandchildren help to keep grandparents current when they share experiences, interests and hobbies. Most of all, here's your chance to have fun, to be yourself, and have the time of your life!

Back To School

Children and teenagers need foods with a lot of nutrients to grow. It is very important to eat breakfast, healthy snacks, and good lunches. Most importantly, children should eat foods from the food groups every few hours, especially nutrient-dense foods without extra added sugars and fats. Nutrient dense foods and fruits and vegetables, low-fat dairy products, lean meats, fish, poultry, beans, nuts and whole grains.

Breakfast-Everyday

Provide quick choices for busy mornings. Breakfast does not need to be traditional; leftovers can make a great breakfast. Always have fresh fruit or whole grain cereal as an option.

Lunches

Make sure lunches are safe, and nutritious. As a parent, do your best to find out if you children are eating their lunches.

Which is better cold lunch or hot lunch? Buying fries with cheese, soft pretzels or pizza is okay once in a while, but not day after day. Seventy percent of the nation's largest school districts now meet or exceed the nutrition guidelines for the amount of fat to be less than 30 percent of the total calories (according to the American Dietetic Association).

Are the foods your kids are eating for lunch nutritious? Teach them responsibility to eat healthy. Help them to pack a lunch. Try to include nutritious food choices your kids will eat. Include a variety of grains and fruits and vegetables.

For example: If the child always has peanut butter sandwiches, try peanut butter in celery, with whole wheat, low-fat crackers and apple slices on the side. Try different kinds of breads; pita bread, tortillas, multi-grain or maybe one slice of whole wheat bread and one white for sandwiches.

Remember to include a favorite food in the lunch, even if it does include a slightly higher amount of fat or salt or sugar. A healthy diet is based on a combination of foods eaten over time.

When packing a cold lunch keep the cold lunch cold. Refrigerate the lunch, pack the sandwich frozen, and use a gel freezer pack or an ice pack to keep it cold. A thermos could also be used to keep things cold.

Snacks

Plan healthy snacks too. Sometimes school lunch schedules are quite late or early in the day. Kids often have after school activities or want to eat as soon as they get home. Plan for these times. Buy fresh in-season produce, and provide healthy snack choices. Examples would include fresh fruit, vegetables, yogurt, a whole wheat peanut butter and banana sandwich, etc.

Beverages

Choose skim milk or at least one percent milk or 100 percent juices or water.

These beverages provide nutrients. Other drinks often only provide empty calories. Soda pop provides the most refined sugar in the average American diet.

Sometimes Foods

Go easy on high-sugar, high-fat, and high-sodium foods.

In conclusion, it is the parent's job to provide the healthy food and the child's job to eat it. Children often are more contentious than adults. To encourage children and teenagers to eat healthy simply remind them.

Here is a dessert the kids can make for their lunches:

ORANGE-APRICOT COOKIES

1 ¼ cups all purpose flour
½ cup whole-wheat flour
¼ cup sugar
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon ground cinnamon
¼ teaspoon salt
⅔ cup dried apricots, chopped
½ cup orange juice, fresh
¼ cup oil (canola)
1 teaspoon orange rind, grated
1 egg, beaten

If you are looking for a recipe but can't find it, send your recipe request to Lou Ann Good, Cook's Question Corner, in care of Lancaster Farming, P.O. Box 609, Ephrata, PA 17522. There's no need to send a self-addressed stamped envelope. If we receive an answer to your question, we will publish it as soon as possible. Check your recipe to make sure you copy the right amounts and complete instructions for making the recipe. Sometimes we receive numerous answers to the same request, but cannot print each one.

Answers to recipe requests should be sent to the same address. You may also e-mail questions and answers to lgood.eph@lnpnews.com

Notice: Several readers write that they have problems accessing this address. The common mistake is that readers are substituting an "i" for the lowercase "l (L)" needed in two places. If you are having problems reaching this address, please check to make sure you are typing an "l (L)" in both places and not an "i."

QUESTION — Elam Lapp, Myerstown, wants a recipe for making homemade hard cheese similar to farmers' cheese by using Jersey cow milk.

QUESTION — Durwood Tuttle, Knoxville, makes sweet pickles in a crock that he stores in a cellar. About three weeks ago, a gray fuzzy mold formed all over the crock. He washed the crock thoroughly with bleach water but it doesn't keep the mold from forming again. Any help would be appreciated.

QUESTION — Bob Snyder wants recipes for hot rice. Also rice recipes of all kinds are needed for the upcoming rice feature on Sept.16.

QUESTION — A reader wants to know why there are strings and other sediments that attach to mixer beaters while mashing potatoes. Is it the potato variety used, the speed used to mash the potatoes or some other reason?

QUESTION — Rachel Musser is searching for a spaghetti sauce recipe that tastes similar to Prego pasta sauce (traditional).

QUESTION — Lynda Bell, Lincoln University, requested two recipes about a year ago, which were answered. Unfortunately, Lynda misplaced the recipes. She writes if readers will send them again, she promises not to lose them this time. She wants a recipe for gingerbread with butterscotch sauce from the Dinah Shore cookbook. She also wants a recipe for horseradish jelly.

QUESTION — Sheila Roney is looking for a sweet potato pie recipe that includes the ingredients of French vanilla pudding, sweetened condensed milk, and cinnamon.

QUESTION — Charles Cramer, New Market, Md., would like a copy of the "Lancaster Level Flo Cookbook (Recipes From the Land of the Pennsylvania Dutch)." His family enjoyed a recipe that they believe was originally published in this 1970's cookbook. The potato salad recipe had a delicious salad dressing.

QUESTION — A reader wants a recipe to make elderberry wine from fresh elderberries.

QUESTION — A subscriber from Leesport writes that she has a problem with sponge and chiffon cakes. Although the cakes bake well, she ends up cutting off one-inch from the bottom of the cake because it is a gummy consistency.

QUESTION — Kenneth Hixon, Warfordsburg, would like a recipe for making gherkin pickles.

QUESTION — Don Love wants a recipe to make homemade marshmallow creme.

QUESTION — Several months ago Michael Brennan, Wilkes Barre, was at an auction in Sullivan County where he ate chicken noodle soup. He writes that it was delicious and looked to be only noodles and chicken. He believes the people at the food stand were from Berks County and were also selling beef vegetable soup. Brennan would like both recipes.

QUESTION — A reader is looking for recipes for hot pepper jam and for sweet pepper jam that tastes similar to that made by Kitchen Kettle.

QUESTION — A Newburg reader would like recipes for jams and jellies or fruit spreads without sugar or artificial sweetener. She'd like recipes that taste similar to brands such as Polaner's All Fruit, Spreadable Fruit, or Smucker's Simply 100% Fruit.

QUESTION — Sylvia Allgyer, Christiana, would like a recipe for sourdough seven grain bread.

QUESTION — Like many of our readers, Bonnie Koons, Harrisburg, writes that she loves B section and all the recipes she tries from it are great. She wants a recipe for cheesecake cookies, which have a snickerdoodle recipe base, cheesy center, and a cherry on top.

QUESTION — Shirley Schwoerer, Wysox, requests a recipe for canned pickled sausages or ring bologna. If we do not receive an answer to this request within two weeks, we assume our readers do not know the answer and will drop the request.

QUESTION — Ruth Erb, Beavertown, wants a recipe called Ann-Margaret's Favorite Chocolate Cake. If we do not receive an answer to this request within two weeks, we assume our readers do not know the answer and will drop the request.

QUESTION — Steven Skramko, Richfield Springs, N.Y., would like a recipe to make Shoe Top cookies, which look like leather used for repairing shoes. He writes the recipe is from 60 years ago. If we do not receive an answer to this request within two weeks, we assume our readers do not know the answer and will drop the request.

ANSWER — Don Love wanted to know how make homemade cottage cheese, cream cheese or a substitute. Thanks to Pat Sweetman who writes that when she lived in the Middle East, she could not get sour cream, cream cheese, or cottage cheese so she made her own version by using fresh yogurt. Let the yogurt drain for different periods of time to get the different thickness consistencies desired. Adding a little cornstarch helps it hold up better on baked potatoes. (She did not say if this was cooked but imagine it would need to be). Pat did not write how she drained the yogurt but one method is to line a strainer with two coffee filters. Let yogurt drain overnight in the refrigerator.

For cottage cheese, see recipe for Farmer's Cheese in answer to Eva Mae Oberholtzer.

ANSWER — Eva Mae Oberholtzer, Ephrata, would like recipes to make goat cheeses and soaps. Thanks to Pat Sweetman, who writes that she has a soap recipe she will gladly send to her. Pat operates Stone Haus Herbs and is an expert at making soaps and teaching classes. Her address is 2595 Rehmeyer Hollow Rd., Stewartstown, PA 17363-8940. Her e-mail address is stonehausfarm+Amciworld.com

Thanks to a writer for sending a recipe for goat's cheese.

Farmer's Cheese

Heat 2 gallons milk (cow's and goat's)

Heat milk in stainless steel kettle to 180 degrees. If you have no thermometer, heat until scalding, but do not boil. Remove from heat and add about ½ cup vinegar until it separates while stirring.

Pour cheese into a colander lined with cheesecloth and set on a pail (liquid will go into the pail).

Mix 2½ teaspoons and salt into the curds in the colander and gather the corners of the cheesecloth. Lift from the colander and set a large can with both ends cut out into the colander. Place cheesecloth filled with cheese into this can. Fill a 2-quart jar with water to use as a weight and set on top of cheese. Let set about 3 hours to cure on a platter or eat immediately.

For cottage cheese, drain after the curd separates.

Potato Salad

Dressing:
5 eggs, beaten
½ cup vinegar
1 cup sugar
1 tablespoon flour
½ teaspoon turmeric

Mix together all ingredients and bring to a boil, stirring constantly. Remove from heat and cool. When cool, add:
1 cup cream
1 cup mayonnaise

1 gallon diced potatoes, cooked, cooled
4 sticks celery
1 onion
5 hard-boiled eggs, diced

ANSWER — Thanks to K. Wagner, Mt. Joy, for sending a rice recipe requested by Bob Snyder.

Tuna Rice Cakes

1 can tuna
2 cups cooked rice
¼ cup chopped celery
2 tablespoons chopped onion
2 egg yolks
2 tablespoons flour

Combine well. Beat two egg whites until stiff and fold into tuna mixture.

Heat one cup oil in skillet. Drop tuna mixture by spoonfuls into hot oil and fry on both sides.

ANSWER — George Spencer wanted to know where to obtain old-fashioned buttermilk. Thanks to David Nolt, Ephrata, for writing that she has about an extra gallon to sell once or twice a week. Call (717) 354-7595.

ANSWER — Shirley Miller, Nazareth, wanted information about potato flour. Thanks to a reader for sending the following: Potato flour is chiefly used in soups, gravies, breads, and cakes in combination with other flours. To avoid lumping, blend it with sugar before mixing or cream it with the shortening before adding a liquid. In bread recipes, potato flour gives a moist slow to stale loaf. To substitute potato flour as a thickener, use the following: 1½ teaspoons potato flour for 1 tablespoon all-purpose flour. In baking, ⅝ cup potato flour for 1 cup all-purpose flour.

Because rice and potato flours have different glutens from wheat, do not expect the same cake texture.

Rice Or Potato Flour Sponge Cake

Sift 3 times or more:
¾ cup potato or rice flour
½ cup sugar

Beat until light and cream:
8 egg yolks

Stir egg yolks into the flour mixture. Beat until stiff, but not dry:
9 egg whites

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Fold the egg whites into the yolks gently but rapidly. Bake the cake for about 45 minutes. When cake is done, reverse the pan after removing from oven, using an inverted funnel to rest the pan. Let cake cool for about 1½ hours before removing from pan. Use a 9-inch tube pan.

ANSWER — Thanks to Arvilla Keeny, New Freedom, for sending a recipe for small pearl tapioca.

Small Pearl Tapioca

4 cups milk
½ cup tapioca
Pinch salt
1 egg, beaten
¾ cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla

Combine milk, tapioca, and salt. Cook 20-30 minutes, stirring constantly until tapioca is fairly clear. Mix together egg and sugar. Stir a little tapioca mixture into egg, then add to tapioca mixture. Cook one minute or more. Remove from heat. Add vanilla. Milk can be heated first so you don't have to stir so long. This can be made in crockpot. Cook three hours on high before adding eggs. Cook 20 more minutes after adding eggs. Stir occasionally while cooking.

ANSWER — Thanks to Fran Romig, Pottstown, for sending this answer for Kenneth Hixon.

Stuffed Green Peppers Or Green Tomatoes

12 medium green peppers or green tomatoes
1 quart shredded cabbage
1 cup salt
4 quarts water
½ cup sugar
2 tablespoons mustard seed
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon white pepper
1 quart vinegar
2 cups water

Cut tops off peppers or tomatoes; save. Scoop out centers. Dissolve 1 cup salt in 4 quarts cold water, pour over vegetable shells and tops; let stand 24 hours in cool place. Drain; rinse, and drain thoroughly. Combine cabbage, 1 teaspoon salt and pepper and mustard seed; press into shells. Replace tops and fasten with toothpicks or sew with coarse thread. Pack into hot jars, leaving ¼-inch headspace. Combine vinegar, water, and sugar. Bring to boiling and pour hot mixture over peppers or tomatoes, leaving ¼-inch headspace. Remove air bubbles. Adjust caps. Process 15 minutes in boiling water bath. Yield: about 3 quarts.

ANSWER — Here is a different recipe for vegetable pizza from Sue McKinsey.

Garden Fresh Veggie Pizza

½ medium red pepper, sliced
¼ cup mushrooms, sliced
¼ cup yellow squash, sliced
1 small onion, thinly sliced

(Turn to Page B9)

1 Italian flat bread or pizza crust
2 teaspoons olive or vegetable oil
1 plum tomato, sliced
½ cup shredded part-skim mozzarella cheese
⅓ cup thinly sliced grated Romano cheese
2 ounces goat cheese
2 tablespoons olive oil
2 teaspoons balsamic or red wine vinegar
1 tablespoon chopped fresh basil leaves
1 tablespoon finely chopped fresh oregano leaves

In small skillet, saute red pepper, mushrooms, squash, and onion until crisp-tender in 2 teaspoons oil. Arrange spinach leaves on flat bread; arrange sauteed vegetables, tomato, and cheeses on spinach. Bake pizza on baking sheet in preheated 450 degree oven until cheese melts, about 10 minutes. Mix 2 tablespoons oil, vinegar, and herbs; drizzle over pizza. Cut into wedges and serve immediately. Makes four 2-slice servings.

Hay Creek — A Celebration Of Early America

MORGANTOWN (Berks Co.) — Every September a small community of those committed to the life of Early America comes alive at Joanna Furnace in the southern corner of Berks County. The attraction is Hay Creek Fall Festival — a site of living history.

This historic festival is located on a site abundant with woodland for charcoal, limestone and contains waterways that were an excellent power source for the once-thriving iron industry and supporting community. A product of its era, the furnace came about from the efforts of only a few men. A few men grew to be a whole community, now evidenced in the many building's on site at the festival. There is the casting house where items such as cannon balls, sash and gate weights, hollowware and box stoves were once made. The massive charcoal storage building houses many of the site's artifacts and is the showcase of Joanna Furnace restoration. During the 1800s, the finer aspect of community life was present in the ironmaster's mansion and carriage house. The good news is that restoration promises to maintain the community, as long as Hay Creek draws festival-goers, the proceeds will go toward this cause.

Not only will you see history at Hay Creek, you will sense it. On the secluded 18th century surroundings you'll catch a whiff of hickory fires and coal-fired steam engines. Take in the sweet blend of dulcimers and strolling folk musicians. In the early American craft and food sections...sights, sounds and smells overwhelm. There traditional craftspeople demonstrate rare crafts and interpret in period garb. At the Blacksmith shop people watch steam rise and hot iron sizzle and in the food area big iron kettles of soup simmer over hickory fires.

The festival continues the long standing tradition of attracting some of the finest craftspeople in the nation to display and demonstrate Early American crafts made the traditional way...such as hand-blown glass, spider lace or Windsor chairs. Additionally, the home crafts area displays numerous crafts like dried flowers, jewelry, pottery and wood items.

Wheelrights Dave Cook, Birdsboro, and Don Peloubet, Lake Hiawatha, N.J., set and cool the hot iron tire on the wooden wagon wheel. They will help visitors relive history at the Hay Creek Fall Festival, Sept. 8-10, Historic Joanna Furnace along Route 10, three miles north of Morgantown.

When you take your first step across the footbridge you are certain to stay a while as you step back in time. You'll find the Civil War re-enactment and encampment with boys from the 88th Pennsylvania Regiment sitting by open fires chatting or from time to time marching to the drum for all to see. Or you can take in the daily-antique car and tractor parades as they circle the festival grounds. In the Engine and Mechanical Area hundreds of antique engines are on display. Large traction steam engines power the sawmill or watch the shingle mill saw in operation, powered by antique tractors from the past.

Though every trip into past must come to an end, the flavor of Hay Creek lingers on. Let your nose guide you to cooper kettles where you can savor the flavor of warm apple butter or stop by the mint tea stand for an ice cold taste from the past of home-made mint tea, just like grandmother used to make it.

When a group of 1,200 volunteers come together and commit themselves to authenticity and excellence, the result is the Hay Creek Fall Festival. Buildings, people, crafts and food are re-created to provide one memorable experience. Hay Creek will become à part of your past...you will revisit again and again.

Relive history. Come to Hay Creek Fall Festival on September 8-10. Gates open 7 a.m. Main attractions daily from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Admission is $5 on Friday and $7 on Saturday and Sunday. The festival is located at the Historic Joanna Furnace along Route 10, three miles north of Morgantown, Pa. For additional information, call (610) 286-0388 or visit www.haycreek.org.

Ida's Notebook

by

Ida Risser

We have had a busy summer here on the farm. We listen to people tell of their trips to Europe or to California, and do not envy them as we've done our share of traveling.

Instead, we plug along doing what we enjoy, and that is growing things. My husband put in eight plantings of sweet corn. He has even helped to husk and freeze more than 50 quart. A lot of corn was given away this year to friends and relatives.

He helps on the farm by turning hay, filling silo, and mowing the meadow. I'm glad he keeps busy as it is difficult to just sit in a chair unless, of course, you are dead tired.

We took our three grandchildren, who live close by, fishing last week. So that we would be sure to catch fish, we went to a trout farm in a nearby county. Luckily, we all caught a fish and one boy caught three. My catch was not a trout, but a big sucker. I think they were glad to have him removed from their ponds.

On the way home, the children almost fell asleep until I announced that we would be stopping for ice cream cones. That woke them up. Some of us got blueberry cones, and they colored everything blue including our tongues and clothes.

The other week their dog ran away and later found in a working stone quarry. Through his license tag, he was traced to his owners by calling the courthouse. Some mishaps do have a good ending.

Beth Kreider Plants A Growing Business

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

LEBANON (Lebanon Co.) — Many 16-year-olds would love to have their own business — be their own boss and have money to tally at the end of the day's sales.

Beth Kreider is one of the lucky ones. But what lots of her peers do not realize is that the perks of having one's own business are not without their price.

Her growing business — raising produce and operating a roadside stand — requires outdoor work in all kinds of weather and at inopportune times. While having her own business enables her to pocket profits, her peers would be surprised that this makes spending money more difficult.

When contemplating a purchase at the mall, Beth is prone to groan and remark, "Do you realize I must sell 20 boxes of tomatoes to buy that?"

During the recent Lebanon Area Fair, Beth needed to get up at 5 a.m. to pick produce before hurrying off to the fair to fulfill fair queen duties.

Beth grows vegetables and flowers to sell at a roadside stand at the edge of the family's farmland. Located next to the Lebanon Country Club and Golf Course, Oak St., Lebanon, the roadside stand attracts many passersby.

Beth said that she grew up helping her grandmother in the many gardens surrounding her home. Her grandmother sold produce from her garden until two years ago, when she passed away.

Beth took over the produce business on about 2,000 square feet of ground. Although she receives some help from her parents, the majority of work is Beth's responsibility. She plants cucumbers, tomatoes, zucchini, watermelon, cantaloupe, bell peppers, corn, and a variety of flowers. Her dad spreads manure of the ground and helps with rolling out black plastic to help with weed control.

Last year, Beth spend a lot of time watering the produce, but this year's generous rainfall saved her hours of heaving buckets of water to the garden.

"Even though it was dry last year, I almost got a better crop than this year," she said.

In the best two years, Beth has noticed that demand for cut flowers is increasing, which is fortunate since flowers and tomatoes are her favorite crops. Raising flowers requires deadheading the blooms to encourage continual blooms and daily cutting.

The garden is located next to the roadside stand, and as long as Beth is working in the garden, she can assist customers. But when the daily chores are done, Beth returns to the family farm, which is back a long lane beside the garden and not within view of the farmhouse.

Beth continues her grandmother's tradition of having customers pay by the honor system. Customers pay for produce by depositing money in a jar.

Although some farm stands have trouble with kids and adults stealing cash boxes, Beth said, "We rarely have had trouble with people stealing. The honor system seems to work well, although sometimes it's difficult to determine exactly how much money should be in the jar."

Bright, bold sunflowers capture the attention of customers at Beth's roadside venture. Raising and selling produce next to a country club and golf course brings heavy traffic and potential customers.

Parents Harold and Barb Kreider have a poultry and beef operation on the farm's 200 acres. Beth's parents and brothers, Dan, 20, and Kevin, 13, take care of the broiler houses and the crops. The broiler houses are fully computerized.

A telephone sensor measures electricity, temperatures, water, and ventilation and other indoor conditions and will alert the family of extreme conditions that require attention by dialing them on the phone.

Beth said, "Because the chicken houses are fully computerized, they don't require a lot of work. I help out occasionally by going through the house to pick up dead birds, but most of the time my parents and brothers take care of everything."

Beth, a junior at Cedar Crest High School, uses her produce business as an FFA project. She said that FFA is popular at Cedar Crest and has one of the largest chapters in the county. Beth holds the office of reporter for her chapter and participates in all the public speaking events.

"I'm not very shy. Speaking always comes easy for me," she said.

Beth plays volleyball on church, school, and community leagues. The school team requires practice from 6 p.m.-9 p.m. daily before school is in session and 5 p.m.-7 p.m. during school days.

"I love volleyball. It's so competitive," Beth said.

Beth also raises a calf or two for an FFA project but never got into showing.

Beth plans to continue her roadside stand as long as possible.

She is undecided about college. Previously she eyed a career as a veterinarian, but six years of schooling seems a bit overwhelming at this stage in her life. She said that if she goes to college, it will probably be for ag science.

"If I go to college, I might not be able to continue the roadside stand, but it's something I could do if I got married and had children," she said.

Even if the venture ends when she graduates, Beth perceives the lessons she learned from having her own business will stay with her for a lifetime.

"Having my own business has really helped me to grasp the concept of the value of money," she said. In addition, she's learned responsibility, time management, and the secrets to growing healthy produce and flowers.

While Beth runs her own produce business, the remaining Kreider family members operate a poultry and beef farm on 200 acres. Parents, Harold and Barb Kreider, have the help of their sons Kevin, 13, and Dan, 20, who missed the photo session.

Goat Blazes Path As First-Ever Supreme Over All Species At E-town

The champion pen of rabbits shown by Tina Myers, Manheim, is purchased by Bob Enck of Farmer's First Bank and his grandson Joshua Campbell. With them is Elizabethtown Fair Queen Monica George.

In her last year of competition, veteran showman Amy Becker, sells the reserve champion hog to Don Musser of Engle Publishing Co. With them is Elizabethtown Fair Queen Monica George.

The reserve champion meat goat shown by Carolyn Kensinger, Manheim, sells to Bill Arnold, Manheim Auto Auction. With them is Elizabethtown Fair Queen Monica George.

At left, Daniel Cavender, 5, has a chance to learn about agriculture as he became "farmer for a day."

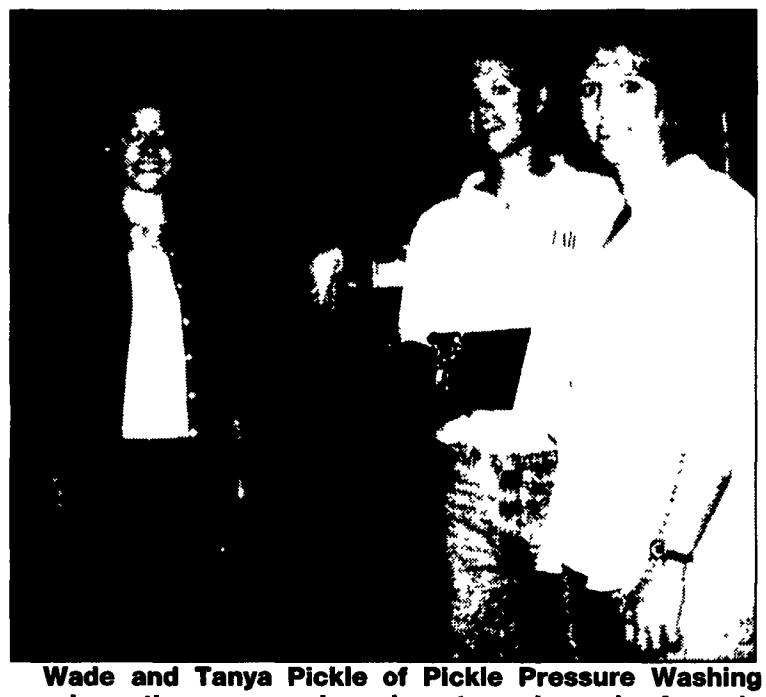
purchased Sarah Zurin's grand champion steer for $2,200. Pickle's Pressure Washing paid $1,200 for the reserve shown by Amanda Grube.

The highest bid for the grand champion market hog was $1,300 paid by Gene Wenger Meats to Lynn Brandt. Lebanon Valley Farmers Bank paid $275 for the reserve champion market hog shown by Amy Becker, Manheim.

Helping to hand out trophies and assist with the auction was Elizabethtown Fair Queen Monica George, who is no stranger to the farm. She raises Hostein steers, rabbits, and pygmy goats on her grandparents' farm. She entered a rabbit pen in fair competition and brought her pymgy goats for the petting zoo.

Benjamin Mowrer, 4,son of Erin and Scott Mowrer, Mount Joy, shows the supreme champion New Zealand white.

Gene and Doris Wenger of Gene Wengers Meats pay $1,300 for the supreme champion hog owned by Lynn Brandt. With them is Elizabethtown Fair Queen Monica George.



Wade and Tanya Pickle of Pickle Pressure Washing purchase the reserve champion steer shown by Amanda Grube.

As soon as he is old enough, six-week-old Alec Hess is "gonna have a steer," his dad John Hess promises. On the right, Hess and his wife Jacy, former state FFA officers and livestock exhibitors, introduce their son to his first fair. Hess, now an auctioneer, and Jacy, working toward her doctorate in education, are staunch supporters of livestock competitions. With them are friends Kelly and Tonya Saylor with son Issac, two months.

Natural Resources Volunteer Honored

WEST CHESTER (Chester Co.) — Francine Joyce-Martin of Chester County was recently selected as a 4-H natural resources Volunteer of Distinction.

According to Extension Agent Laurie Szoke, "Francine is an outstanding initiator in community based 4-H environmental science education. She reaches a diverse youth audience through her garden and nature club, schools, and the local library."

Francine's work as a leader is characterized by a dedication to serve and educate youth about the natural world around them. She gets kids involved in wildlife habitat improvement projects, recycling, raising worms, wildlife observation, fishing, planting native gardens, and owl watching.

Francine said, "going the extra mile +(for kids+) is what being a good 4-H leader is about. I enjoy being a 4-H leader. It is a responsibility that is very important to me. I feel as if I'm making a difference to the adults of tomorrow."

Francine will be presented with a framed certificate and a copy of the book: "Nature Journaling, Learning to Observe and Connect With the World Around You."

Consuming Thoughts

Fay Strickler

Penn State Extension Home Economist For Berks Co.

If you have been to a yard sale or auction recently, you probably discovered the high prices that people pay for a cast iron cookware.

Cast iron is used for utensils that include skillets, roasters, and Dutch ovens, broilers, griddles, and some speciality items, such as muffin and corn bread pans. These utensils are excellent for browning, frying, stewing, and baking foods.

Cast iron utensils have been with us for thousands of years. The Chinese used cast iron bowls nearly 3,000 years ago. An iron foundry, where utensils and other cast iron products were manufactured, was one of the first industries organized in North America.

Today's cast iron utensils have been improved greatly over those of even the recent past. They are made of iron alloys that give additional strength to the utensil. Some cast iron utensils now have colorful porcelain enamel exterior and interior finishes.

Natural cast iron utensils benefit from slightly different handling in the home than the techniques recommended for other materials. Many of today's cast iron items are "pre-seasoned" when purchased. They should not be washed with strong detergents or scoured and they do not need seasoned before use. They should be washed with hot soapy water, rinsed and wiped dry immediately. The inside of the washed and dried utensil should frequently be coated with unsalted cooking oil or shortening. Just before using again, they should be wiped with a dry cloth or paper towel.

Natural cast iron utensils can be re-seasoned if necessary according to the Metal Cookware Manufacturers Association. This is done by scouring the utensil thoroughly, washing it in soapy water, rinsing and drying it, and coating the inside surface lightly with unsalted cooking oil or shortening. Then the utensil should be heated in a 250°-300° oven for about two hours. When the utensil is removed from the oven, excess grease should be wiped away.

Cast iron utensils with porcelain enamel interiors do not need seasoning. Hot soapy water and thorough rinsing and drying will keep them clean and shining.

Never wash a cast iron utensil in a dishwasher because the harsh dishwasher detergents remove the oil seasoning and can cause rusting.

Store cast iron utensils in a dry place. Never store a natural cast iron utensil with the cover on. This might cause "sweating" and consequent rust damage.

Depending on what you cook in cast-iron pots, these pots can add significant amounts of this important mineral to your food. Acidic foods like tomato sauce and applesauce that cook for a long time absorb the most iron. Spaghetti sauce, cooked for about 25 minutes in an iron pot, will have about six milligrams of iron per 3.5 ounce serving, compared with 0.7 milligrams if cooked in another kind of pot. Applesauce cooked in iron will contain up to seven milligrams, compared with .03 if not cooked in iron. (Women over 50 and all adult men need 10 milligrams of iron daily; women under 50 need 15 milligrams). And studies have shown that pots continue to add iron to food even after years of use.

Grange Agrees With EPA

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The Pennsylvania State Grange agrees with the Environmental Protection Agency's decision to remove farm, forestry and aquaculture operations from the permitting process for regulations concerning Total Daily Maximum Loads (TMDLs).

TMDLs are the amount of a pollutant a water body can absorb before it becomes impaired. The objective of TMDLs is to bring polluted waterways back to an unimpaired condition.

The Grange, which was part of a broad coalition of organizations, testified against the proposal and was successful in keeping EPA from achieving its original plan thanks to two hearings attended by nearly 800 people. Moreover, EPA received over 34,000 formal complaints opposed to the rule.

You ask 'ou

This column is for readers who have questions but don't know who to ask for answers.

"You Ask—You Answer" is for non-cooking questions. When a reader sends in a question, it will be printed in the paper. Readers who know the answer are asked to respond by mailing the answer, which will then be printed in the paper.

Questions and Answers to this column should be addressed to You Ask—You Answer, Lancaster Farming, P.O. Box 609, Ephrata, PA 17522. Attention: Lou Ann Good.

Or, you may e-mail questions and answers to lgood.eph@lnpnews.com

Please clarify what question you are answering when responding.

Do not send a self-addressed, stamped envelope for a reply. If we receive the answer, we will publish it as soon as possible. Please include your phone number because we sometimes need to contact the person to clarify details. We will not publish your phone number unless you request it.

ANSWER — Eva Mae Oberholtzer, Ephrata, wanted a recipe for making goat soap. Thanks to Melissa Orr, Martinsburg, W.Va., who sent the recipe she uses to make goat soap to sell at their roadside stand. She writes that gets many compliments for the recipe that she adapted.

Goat Milk Soap

2½ pounds cold, distilled water (does not need to be refrigerated)
473 grams sodium hydroxide
4 pounds olive oil
2 pounds 8 ounces coconut oil
1 pound 8 ounces palm oil
30 grams grapefruit seed extract (natural preservative), optional
Add:
4-ounces mineral oil
2-ounces lanolin
½ pound shea butter
4 pound cold goats milk
40-50 grams pure essential oil
3-ounces glycerine
5 drops Carnation absolute
1-ounce almond perfume oil
Set up work area and equipment.

Line mold with heavy duty waxed freezer paper. Be sure to miter corners and flatten paper against sides of the box. Use masking tape to secure the paper to the box without waves and wrinkles.

Measure out essential oil, preservatives, and other ingredients; set aside.

Put on goggles and gloves. Weigh out sodium hydroxide and set aside.

Set the 2-quart glass container on the scale and add the distilled water; remove from scale. Carefully add sodium hydroxide while stirring briskly with a rubber spatula. The fumes will overwhelm you after 10 seconds, so hold your breath while stirring, and then leave room for fresh air. Return after 2-3 minutes to finish dissolving the sodium hydroxide. The reaction will heat the lye solution to more than 200 degrees, so set the bowl aside in a safe place to cool down to 80 degrees.

While the sodium hydroxide solution cools, begin mixing the oils. Set the soap making pan on the scale and add the olive oil. Set the 3-quart saucepan on the scale and add the coconut and palm oils. Place saucepan over low heat until most of the solid pieces of the oils have melted. The few remaining chunks will melt from the heat within the pan. Pour the heated oils into the olive oil. Should you choose to use natural preservations, add the grapefruit seed extract and the tocopherol to the warm fats and oils, mixing thoroughly. Let the oils cool to 80 degrees.

As lye approaches 80 degrees, heat goat milk to 80 degrees. The oils need to be 80 degrees also.

Add the lye to the goats milk, slowly, stirring vigorously.

Do not beat or whip. Next add essential oils and mix thoroughly. Quickly pour the soap into the frame.

Cover the frame and leave undisturbed for 18-24 hours. Uncover and set away from drafts for 1-7 days. Cut into bars before they harden completely. Lay soap in a single layer on brown paper to curl. Allow to cure 4-6 weeks, turning occasionally. Wrap in breathable material.

Martin Limestone Hosts Rider Day

BLUE BALL (Lancaster Co.) — Sixty-seven different children, grandchildren, spouses, or friends rode along with 45 Martin Limestone, Inc., drivers during the company's Rider Day recently.

During the one-day event, truck drivers from Martin Limestone, Inc., and its Burkholder Paving, New Holland Concrete, and Valley Forge Stone divisions invited family members or friends to ride along throughout the day while the drivers made their deliveries.

The company initiated Rider Day as an opportunity to say "thank you" to all of the company's 92 drivers. Martin Limestone's Rider Day took place during National Truck Driver Appreciation Week.

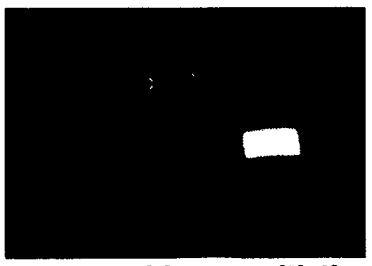
The American Trucking Association sponsors National Truck Driver Appreciation Week each year to thank the nation's truck drivers for the job they do and the vital role they play in the distribution of products we depend on each day.

Chore-Time Proximity Switches Automate, Control Feeding Systems

MILFORD, Ind. — Chore-Time's new Sensor Plus™ electronic proximity switches make it easier for poultry and livestock producers to automate and control their feed conveying systems.

Designed for use with the company's floor feeding and Flex-Auger® feed conveying systems, Chore-Time's Sensor Plus switch is designed to provide reliable feed sensing for feeding and feed conveying systems in a variety of uses.

The new proximity switches are advanced, nonmechanical units. Producers can use the switches to reliably and accurately monitor their feed conveying system. A patent is pending on the company's new generation of switches.



Designed for use with the company's floor feeding and Flex-Auger® feed conveying systems, Chore-Time's Sensor Plus switch is designed to provide reliable feed sensing for feeding and feed conveying systems in a variety of uses.

All of Chore-Time's Sensor Plus Switches feature an adjustable delay of zero to 10 minutes. The unique design of this new proximity switch permits the sensor to be located separately from the electronic control, and offers producers more versatile control mounting options.

For applications such as hogs, dairy, and turkeys — where feeding systems are used in environments with naturally higher moisture conditions — Chore-Time has added an innovative, tiny heating unit to the sensor to help make the switch one of the most reliable available for those applications. Because of the unique heating unit, this version of the new Chore-Time proximity switches is virtually unaffected by variations in moisture, temperature, or feed consistencies.

AerWay Introduces Manure Management System

NORWICH, Ontario, Canada — Holland Equipment Limited has introduced its "SSD" Manure Management System.

The new AerWay SSD combines patented incorporation technology with an applicator.

The SSD offers significant odor reduction and runoff protection. Adjustable nozzle heights and variable depth control allow unsurpassed accuracy in liquid waste management.

Steve Russell, general manager of Holland Equipment, said "The AerWay SSD provides all users with a versatile and environmentally friendly manure management tool. Our research has proven the SSD will significantly reduce runoff risk and effectively manage manure odor."

Holland Equipment Limited has introduced its "SSD" Manure Management System.

The SSD is available in 10-foot, 15-foot and 20-foot widths configured either as a pull-type or three-point hitch mount. The unit can be used with a tanker or dragline.

Blue Seal Mills Receive Industry Awards

LONDONDERRY, N.H. — Blue Seal Feeds Mills in Augusta, Maine, Bainbridge, N.Y. and Bow, N.H. all received honorable mention in the American Feed Industry Association (AFIA) 2000 "Feed Mill of the Year" awards.

Bainbridge had received a similar award last year, while this was the first time Augusta and Bow have been so honored.

In accepting the award, Area Manager David Derr spoke highly of his team at Bainbridge, which also received the AFIA Fleet of the Year Award and has won Blue Seal's Spring Inspection Award six of the last seven years.

Augusta manager Bob Felt reported that his mill focused on exceptional customer service and efficiency through teamwork. The Augusta team is also approaching five years since their last lost-time accident.

Bow Manager Greg Guerdet stated that Bow strives to be the best in the industry by having the "best employees, customers, management team, and corporate staff working hard for each other." The Bow Mill also has the strongest safety record in the company, with 2,238 days without a lost-time accident and counting.

Modified Live BVD Vaccines Offer Potential For Wider Protection

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. — Modified live virus (MLV) vaccines have caused apprehension in a lot of cattle operations. But research is showing MLV vaccines possess qualities that may make them preferable to inactivated (killed) vaccines in many situations. The time has come for producers and their veterinarians to take a good, hard look at the improved protection potential of MLV vaccines.

Most researchers now see modified live virus vaccines as more effective than killed vaccines. Noted Bovine Viral Diarrhea (BVD) researcher Steve Bolin, D.V.M., Ph.D., of USDA's Agricultural Research Service, Ames, Iowa, sees a place for many of the BVD vaccines on the market. However, Bolin notes the duration of immunity on inactivated (killed) BVD vaccine is relatively short, maybe only three-six months compared to the extended protection with MLV vaccine.

Modified live vaccines appear to stimulate both humoral (antibody-mediated) and cell-mediated immunity. Inactivated vaccines stimulate humoral immunity, but the jury's still out on cell-mediated protection. Extensive research shows that a MLV vaccine stimulates cell-mediated immunity among all three major subgroups of T cells: T helpers (CD4), T cytotoxics (CD8) and gamma-delta T cells. By stimulating both humoral immunity and immunity among T cell groups, MLV vaccines can provide a longer and wider protection than inactivated vaccines.

And the efficacy of an MLV vaccine for BVD may be enhanced if it contains vaccines derived from both Type I and Type II BVD strains, rather than one or the other.

"We see considerable variation among the strains within Type I or Type II, but there's even more variation between the two types," said Jim Roth, D.V.M., Ph.D., immune system expert and professor at Iowa State University's College of Veterinary Medicine. A BVD product made with vaccines derived from both Type I and Type II strains can help the animal develop protection against a wider range of BVD strains.

Shaun Sweiger, D.V.M., Edmond, Okla., is watching his clients achieve success with modified live BVD vaccines.

"One example is Bill and Dianna Helm. The Helms were using a combination product that included a killed BVD vaccine," Dr. Sweiger says. "I suggested they try Titanium® (AgriLabs), which offers modified live BVD Type I and Type II protection."

On the advice of Dr. Sweiger, the Helms switched products.

"We had used some Titanium in the past, mostly on a custom basis," Bill said. "We already had an established product that we'd used for eight or nine years; that's what we wanted to use. But on the advice of Dr. Sweiger, we changed and we've been very pleased with the change."

The Helms run a 3,000-head capacity preconditioning operation near Nowata, Okla., handling 15,000 to 20,000 head per year. They keep cattle on hand for 30-45 days, specializing in high-stress animals. Herd health is an important issue for them.

"We put our vaccination program to the test," Dianna said. "With our old KV/MLV vaccine, we saw some big backlashes after vaccinating, especially after the IBR booster. They would break back out and we'd have to start over again. I don't see any drawbacks with this MLV vaccine. I ride the pastures and pull the sick calves. I just see the cattle doing better. This vaccine doesn't slap them as bad."

"We've seen less adverse reactions," Bill said. "We're seeing less inconsistency, too. Each set of cattle is reacting about the same. With the other product, we'd see a group that would spike and be tougher to deal with. We see fewer ups and downs now. This MLV vaccine is a lot more uniform."

"The Helms don't see the sweats, the stress on their animals, with the MLV product either," Sweigart reported. "I've had more than one of my clients say Titanium is a gentler vaccine. It's a big issue for them and for many producers."

And it's a big economic issue for the Helms.

"With Titanium, we can revaccinate at 10 days," Dianna said. "With our other vaccine, we had been waiting until 14 to 21 days later, and we were still seeing problems. For us, around 10 days is the ideal time to booster. Since we started using this MLV vaccine, we've increased our gains about 15 to 20 pounds per month. To us, that's a bonanza."

Work by Dr. Roth and Dr. Terhaar indicates Titanium not only stimulates humoral and cell-mediated immunity, but also offers stronger protection against both BVD Type I and Type II. Titanium contains vaccine derived from a Type I virus as well as vaccine derived from the Bolin 296 Type II BVD strain. That gives a much wider and more-complete protection than other MLV vaccines, which are made only from Type I virus and must rely on the benefits of cross-protection to battle the often-virulent Type II infections.

Research Seeds Purchases Forage Assets

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. — Research Seeds, Inc. announced it has completed the acquisition of selected forage assets from Agri-Bio Tech Inc. (ABT). The assets to be purchased include facilities, an alfalfa research program, and several biotechnology research agreements.

"These forage assets are a strategic fit for Research Seeds, both within Forage Genetics International, our forage research and marketing division, and Seed Solutions Division, our distribution subsidiary," said Ken Fearday, president of research seeds. "This acquisition will strengthen all aspects of our forage program, from product development to production to distribution and will fortify our turf distribution in the Midwest."

Through the acquisition, Research Seeds obtains distribution facilities in Fresno, Calif. and Savage, Minn.; alfalfa production and packaging facilities in Nampa, Idaho; Greybull, Wyo.; and Lovelock, Nev.; the forage grass production facility in Miller, S.D.; and the W-L alfalfa research program. ABT's forage biotechnology agreements with Akkadix, Kimeragen, Noble Foundation, and FFR Cooperative will transfer to Forage Genetics International as part of the transaction.

Community Show Sept. 8-10

THURMONT, Md. — This year marks the 44th anniversary of the Thurmont and Emmitsburg Community Show, scheduled for Friday, Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 8-10, at Catoctin High School in Thurmont, Md.

More than 2,500 farm and garden, household, quilt, livestock, machinery, and commercial displays can be seen during the three-day event.

Entries will be entered Thursday night, Sept. 7, from 6-9 p.m. and on Friday, Sept. 8, from 8 a.m. to noon in the auditorium. There will be no entry fee. Ribbons and $8,000 in prize money will be awarded. Entries may be removed from the gymnasium on Sunday, Sept. 10, from 4 p.m. to 7 p.m.

The show opens Friday, Sept. 8 at 6 p.m. to the public. At 7:30 p.m., the program will open in the auditorium with the massing of flags by community civic organizations. Richard Lee and Pat Troxell, local singers, will present a musical program.

The highlight of the program will be the announcement of the 1999-2000 Catoctin FFA ambassador.

Immediately following the program, an auction of all baked goods exhibited at the show will be conducted in the auditorium. Robert Meunier and Roger Rothenhoefer will be the auctioneers.

Saturday's activities include a beef, sheep, and swine fitting and showing contest from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. and a pet show, beginning at 10:30 a.m.

Thurmont Grange and Mountaingate Family Restaurant will serve a buffet turkey and ham supper in the school cafeteria from 3 p.m. to 7 p.m.

The Frederick County Sheriff's Posse Band will play from 7 p.m. to 8 p.m. and again at 8:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. in the auditorium Saturday.

Milking equipment, gasoline engines, and machinery will be displayed throughout the event. "Homer" and "Albert," owned by Ernest Jackson, will be back again this year. The Brown Swiss are 13-years-old and weigh 3,000 pounds each. Pigs, calves, and emus will be also be on display.

The Catoctin area FFA Alumni Beef, Sheep and Swine sale will be in the Ag Center area at 7 p.m.

Sunday, Sept. 10, the show opens at 10 a.m. with a dairy and goat show. The decorated animal contest will follow this event. At noon, in the school cafeteria, a chicken barbecue will be served by the Catoctin FFA Alumni.

The Catoctin Mountain Horseshoe Pitching Contest will begin at 1 p.m., and the cross cut sawing contest will begin at 2 p.m. under the tent.

Sheep shearing demonstrations will be conducted at 1:30 p.m. to 2:30 p.m. and there will also be a spinning and weaving demonstration. There will also be a karate demonstration in the gymnasium at 2 p.m. Sunday.

The Frederick County Sheriff's Posse Band will perform at 1:30 p.m. to 2:30 p.m. and again from 3 p.m. to 4 p.m. in the auditorium.

Area lady quilters will be quilting in the quilt and afghan display room.

The Thurmont Library will again have books for sale in the school.

The Maryland Ag in the Classroom trailer will be at the show in the ag show area and will be open to the public. The following week, the trailer will be at the Sabillasville Elementary School. The silver offering will be used for Ag in the Classroom in the Catoctin School area.

Add up the Super Boom™ advantages

No skid steer compares to a New Holland Super Boom™ Add up the advantages

- Superior visibility: no rear frame towers in your way
- Unbeatable stability: longer wheelbase and lower center of gravity make Super Boom a productive comfortable safe machine
- Faster speeds: the fastest ground speeds in the industry for quicker cycle times
- Unequaled dump height & reach: vertical boom lift path makes it the best
- Pound for pound, better lift capacity: Super Boom gives you more lift capacity per pound of total machine weight
- The most attachments: More than 60 attachments available with more coming all the time Super Boom™ also works with most competitive attachments

Stop by today and see for yourself why no skid steer can compare

Fast, smooth Haybine® performance

The New Holland Model 1465 Haybine mower-conditioner has a five-bat reel for more uniform crop flow into the nine-foot cutter bar The "1465" provides fast reaction time to field obstructions and has an enclosed wobble gearbox for smooth, dependable operation

Other proven advantages include

- Conditioner roll drives with straight spline telescoping shafts for extra durability
- A spring-loaded reel drive idler for improved performance, added header durability and less maintenance
- A cutterbar assembly with square back-bar guards, adjustable hold-downs and a back-hardened knife assembly for long wear and less maintenance

The Model 1465 really is outstanding in the field

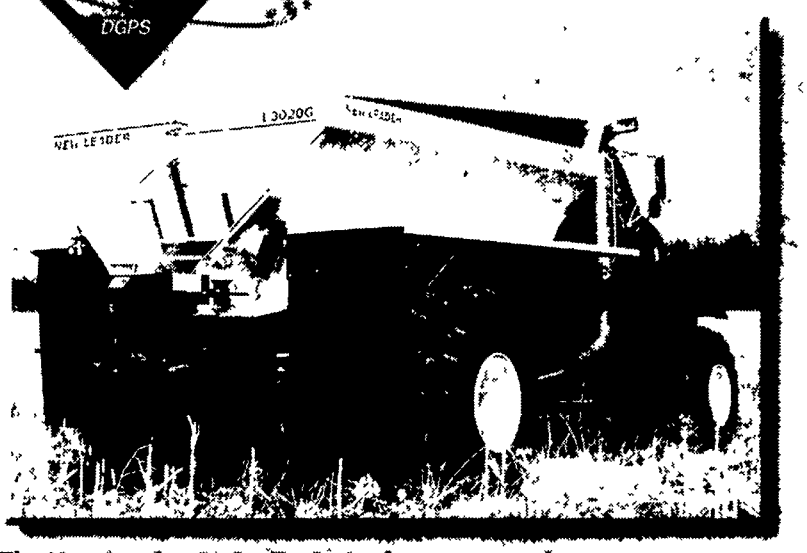
NEW LEADER G4 SERIES

Fertilizer and Lime Spreaders

NEW LEADER DGPS



The New Leader G4 Series Spreader can spread more acres per day--with a wider range of material application rates--than any other granular applicator currently on the market. The new L3020G4 variable rate broadcaster allows you to

- Spread lime with effective swath widths up to 60'.
- Spread fertilizer with effective swath widths up to 90'.

The New Leader L2020G4 is also available.

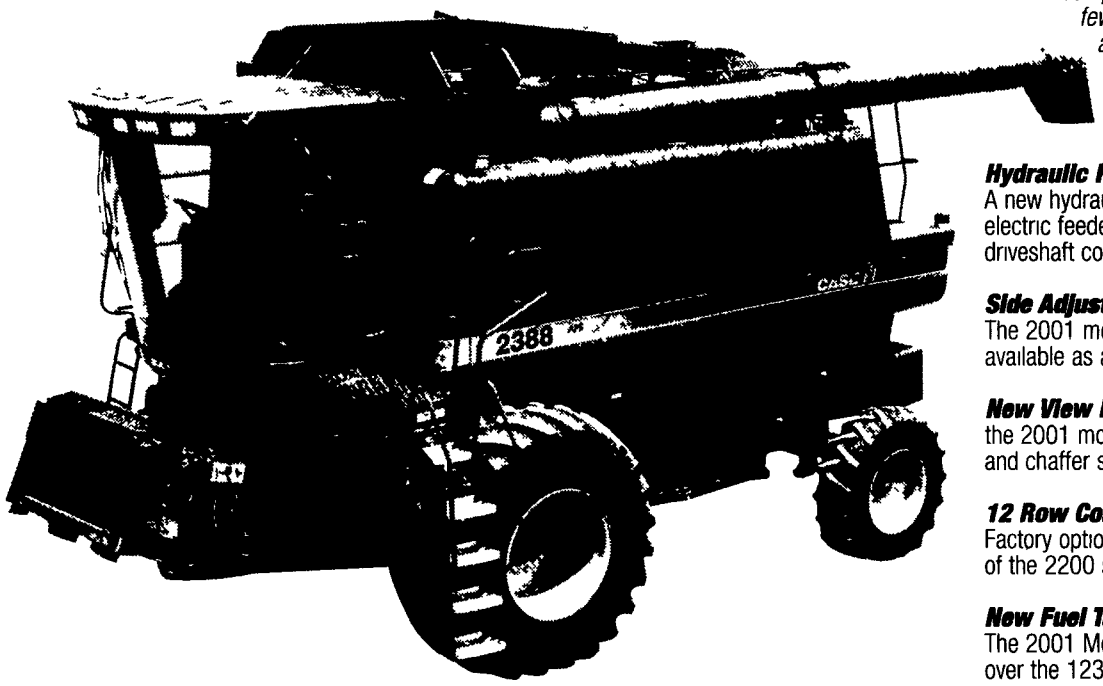
Meeting Your Farm E

Introducing The New 2001 Model Axial Flow Combines

Still Simply the Best.



A Case-IH Rotary Axial-Flow Combine has only ONE moving part in it's entire threshing/separating process . . a single large-diameter rotor. Open up the side shield on any other rotary combine and compare it to the drive mechanism, and you will see that the Case-IH rotary combine has fewer moving parts, which means fewer problems Because the more moving parts there are, the greater your chance of breaking down

The new 2001 model Axial-Flow Combines make you even more productive with the following enhancements

Hydraulic Feeder Reverser
A new hydraulic feeder reverser, located on the left-hand side of the feeder jackshaft replaces the electric feeder reverser on previous models The reverser will deliver 50% more torque to the feeder driveshaft compared to the output of the electric reverser.

Side Adjust Sieve Ready - All Models
The 2001 model combines will be ready to accept a future side adjust sieve feature This will be available as a Service Parts Kit

New View Door and Light
the 2001 models will have a new side-viewing door with a light for easier visibility of the chopper and chaffer sieves

12 Row Corn Head Capable
Factory options are available for the 2001 model 2388 to be capable of handling the size and weight of the 2200 series 12 row corn heads

New Fuel Tank
The 2001 Model 2388 combines will have a new 180 gallon fuel tank - a 46% increase in capacity over the 123 gallon tank on previous models.

BETTER NUTRITION & PEAK FORAGE HARVESTING CAPACITY!

6, 7, & 9 Ft. Hay Pickup Attachment Available

Increase Production & Profits with a Gehl Crop Processor™

Better feed starts with better harvesting. That's what you get with a Gehl crop processing forage harvester. First to put crop-processing rolls in a pull-type forage harvester, Gehl remains the leader with the original Model 1275 and the all-new Model 1075.

- HIGH-SPEED GROOVED ROLLS crack kernels break up the cob and shred stalk material
- BENEFITS include increased milk production and improved herd health
- MODEL 1275 is today's top capacity pull-type forage harvester, handling up to 300 PTO horsepower
- NEW MODEL 1075 handles up to 225 PTO horsepower
- EXCLUSIVE AUTOMAX™ LOAD MANAGEMENT SYSTEM helps boost capacity

GEHL

OURS DOESN'T EITHER

When you work the land, you don't have the luxury of working 9 to 5. You need to be available all day, every day...and if your equipment breaks down, you need it fixed now, not tomorrow at 3:00.

Deer Creek understands the way you work. That's why we're here when you need us with parts and service 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. Where you buy a product is often as important as what you buy!

Put us to the test! Service when you need it.

Pork Referendum — Sept. 19-21

I encourage every eligible swine producer to vote in the National Pork Referendum, scheduled Sept. 19-21 in local Farm Service Agency (FSA) offices. The referendum will determine whether the programs funded by Pork Checkoff will continue.

Pork Checkoff began in 1968 when producers voluntarily contributed a nickel per hog. In time, the checkoff amount was increased to twenty cents per pig and, in 1986, producers nationwide voted to make the checkoff program mandatory. Currently, the checkoff amount stands at .45 percent — or $.45 for a hog valued at $100.

The National Pork Board, appointed by the Secretary of Agriculture, delegates the funds for research, education, and promotion.

This is an important issue for every producer, 4-H'er and FFA member in the country. Give careful consideration to your decision, and be sure to vote.

If you're not able to vote in person, contact your FSA office for an absentee ballot. Ballot requests must be made by Sept. 18.

Eastern Equine Encephalitis (EEE)

Dr. John Enck, Pennsylvania state veterinarian, is urging horse owners to consult their veterinarians about the need to vaccinate their horses against Eastern Equine Encephalitis. This follows the report of the death of a horse in New Jersey from the disease and three in Virginia.

Eastern Equine Encephalitis (EEE) is not to be confused with West Nile Virus. EEE, though transmitted by mosquitoes, is a virus that affects the central nervous system of horses. This virus cannot be spread from horse to horse, or horse to human by mosquitoes. It has not often been seen in Pennsylvania.

Dr. Enck highly recommends that all owners of horses consult their veterinarians for vaccination protocols against this disease. It is generally recommended that horses not vaccinated within the last six months be given a booster.

Questions relating to this issue may be addressed to the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture's Bureau of Animal Health and Diagnostic Services at (717) 772-2852.

Modified Live Vs. Killed Vaccines

As many of you know, many vaccines are available in killed and modified live form. Before we decide which form to use, we must understand how they work.

There are two separate and distinct parts to the immune system. The first is the humoral (antibody) system and the second is the cellular (cell-mediated) system. As a general statement, when protecting against bacterial pathogens (Clostridium, Pasturella) we want to stimulate humoral immunity, and when protecting against viral pathogens (IBR, BVD) we want to stimulate cellular immunity. So, when thinking about the viral respiratory diseases like IBR, BVD, P13, and BRSV, cellular immunity is most important.

The best option for you as a producer is to schedule a meeting with your local herd health veterinarian so that he/she can advise you on a program specific for your herd.

Pros and cons of modified live vs. killed vaccines:

- Killed vaccines do not stimulate local immunity (example; nasal cavity) at all and do not stimulate or poorly stimulate cellular immunity.
- Killed vaccines are very effective in stimulating humoral immunity.
- Killed vaccines generally require multiple doses (two-four weeks apart) to immunize. One dose has no benefit at all.
- The immunity stimulated by killed vaccines is short-lived, requiring boosters every few months to one year for maintenance.
- Modified-live vaccines provide cellular and humoral immunity that persists for years to life and are the first choice for successful immunization of young animals. Giving a MLV vaccine at weaning to calves and again at one year of age to replacement heifers is a very cost-effective practice.
- Modified-live vaccines can cause abortion in unprotected pregnant animals.
- Modified-live vaccines are less expensive per dose than killed products and require fewer doses to adequately immunize the animal.

Lamb Meat Adjustment Assistance Program

USDA has started a Lamb Meat Adjustment Assistance Program to improve sheep flocks and the quality of sheep and lamb carcasses. LMAAP is a three-year program with a nationwide allocation of $30 million. Ten million is targeted per program year.

There are three types of payments in year one:

- Ram Payment — $100 per ram purchased, maximum payment of $2,500 per operation.
- Sheep Improvement Program Payment — $.50 per enrolled sheep, maximum payment $500 per operation.
- Facility Improvement Payment — 20 percent of total cost of facility improvement, maximum payment of $2,500 per operation.

The second and third years are devoted to eligible lamb payments only — feeder lambs at $3 per head and slaughter lambs at $5 per head. Feeder lambs are defined as either ewes or wethers less than one year of age that were sold intended to be fed grain to achieve slaughter weight. Slaughter lambs are sold for immediate slaughter and must grade either USDA Choice Prime, or USDA Yield Grade 2. There is a bonus program for slaughter lambs of $3 per head for lambs marketed during June 1 and July 31 of program years two and three.

Contact your local FSA office for details.

Electric Fence Tips

For effective animal control, wire spacing is more important than fence height. More animals go through and under fences than over them. Proper wire spacing makes your fences more effective.

Regardless of how many wires your fence has, always position one wire at the shoulder height of the animal to be controlled. This is the "nose wire" that your animals see and touch when they approach the fence. Other fence wires should be spaced according to the type of animal: 10-inches to 12-inches apart for cattle and horses, and six-inches to eight-inches apart for sheep and goats. The bottom wires should be closer together than the top wires.

Fences taller than 48-inches aren't really necessary. In many countries, livestock fence are seldom over 42-inches tall. Electric fences can be even lower — 36-inches for cattle and horses, and 30-inches for sheep and goats. Shorter fences also allow closer wire spacing.

When utilizing electric fencing, you can't have too many ground rods. Sometimes one will work, but three is better. When an animal touches the fence, the electricity must travel through the animal into the soil, then through the soil to a ground rod. The current then travels from the ground rod to the fence charger, where the circuit is completed. Only then does the animal feel the shock.

Therefore, the more ground rods, the more electricity gets back to the fence charger. That's why the best ground system consists of three galvanized ground rods, at least six-feet deep, spaced 10-feet apart. For best results, install your ground rods where soil moisture is constant. Always use clamps to attach the ground wire to the ground rods. Remember, your electric fence is only as good as its ground system.

Family Farm Crisis Regional Meeting Sept. 12

MONTROSE (Susquehanna Co.) — On Tuesday, September 12, the Most Rev. James C. Timlin, D.D. Catholic Bishop of the Diocese of Scranton, comprising the 11 counties of northeastern Pennsylvania, will host a meeting here at Holy Name Church Hall from 7-9 p.m.

The purpose of the meeting is to alert the general populace to the serious crisis facing all family farmers of the area, addressing especially cultural and economic problems.

The meeting is ecumenical, and the general public is invited to attend.

The program is coordinated by Fr. William Picard, director of urban ministries for the Diocese of Scranton.

Meeting Focus: Managing Manure On Small Scale

ELLICOTT CITY, Md. — The horses and cattle are great to have on your small farm, and really add to your family's quality of life. But do you ever wonder what to do with the manure from inside the stable and barn?

For some answers, on Wednesday, Sept. 13, a meeting on "Waste Management Options for Small-Scale Livestock and Horse Owners" is scheduled from 6 p.m.-8 p.m. at the Central Maryland Research and Education Center in Ellicott City.

The meeting will focus on composting animal manure. Composting can make manure easier to handle and can stabilize the nutrients. Visitors on Sept. 13 will learn how composting works and what method will be right for them. Demonstrations will let everyone see how these methods work and what the results are. There will even be examples for people without much equipment.

Cost for the meeting is $4 for those who preregister by Sept. 12 and $6 the day of the meeting. Those who preregister will be eligible to win a free composting starter kit.

For more information or to preregister, call Caragh Fitzgerald at the Howard County Extension office at (410) 313-2707.

Having Problems Getting Milk Cold?

With the summer heat, consider a Mueller pre-cooler. It's an excellent way to lower the cost of cooling milk. It reduces milk temperature with water pumped straight out of your well. Mueller® precoolers are available in sizes to work with any system. If lower electric bills would make your life easier, call us and ask for more information on Mueller precoolers.

LOG CABIN HORSE FARM Plus Catalog

Offering a new approach to horse keeping!!!

Are you tired of having your horses stand in wet stalls? Would you like to dry them out and save money on bedding at the same time? Are you tired of the mud holes your horses make outside the barn door or off the end of the concrete? Would you like a solid surface around your outside hay feeder that allows moisture to soak through to the ground below?

If this sounds good, give me a call and I will explain how it works and how much it costs

Toasted Soybeans • Flaked or Whole
Buy Sell or Bank Grain at Competitive Prices

Four Ways We Deliver More...

#1 More By-pass, More Milk – Toasted Beans offer consistently higher by-pass protein cows need to make more milk

#2 More Production per Protein Unit – Toasting provides consistently superior protein release from every bean, without variations that can tie up amino acids

#3 More Rumen-Friendly Source – Toasting is gentle Digestibility is improved Energy (oil) is retained inside the bean to minimize impact on rumen environment

#4 More of the Taste Cows Love – Toasted is Tastier! Cows eat every bean

RESPONSE™ PG

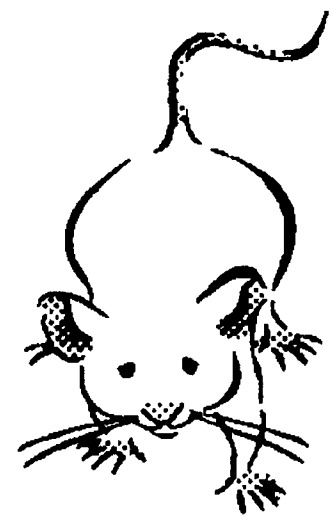
An exciting new dairy product with great potential for dairy producers.

Response™ PG will improve rumen function and provide a source of energy precursor during the critical transition period.

Consolidated Nutrition's Reponse™ PG is 55% propylene glycol. It also contains a yeast culture in an easy to use, palatable dry form, clearly makes Response™ PG a break through dairy product.

The target feeding rate is about 9 oz. of Response™PG per day. This feeding rate will cost less than 80¢ per head per day. In addition to reducing metabolic problems, Response™ PG can have a positive impact on peak milk enhancement, feed (energy) intake and reproduction performance due to improved energy balance and rumen function.

RODENT PROBLEMS!



- torn feed sacks
- droppings and urine stains
- rodent hair
- grease smears on walls and floors
- gnawed doors, walls, wiring and insulation
- burrows along foundations and fence lines
